

carrier of the month Farmington

Anderson is honored

James Anderson of Oak Pointe Drive, Farmington Hills, has been named to the dean's list for winter term, announced Dr. David E. Fry, chancellor of Northwood Institute.

To achieve dean's list recognition, students must earn a 3.0 grade-point on a 4.0 scale.

Northwood is a private, coeducational institution with the main campus and administrative offices located in Midland and campuses also in West Baden, Ind. and Cedar Hill, Texas. A business and management college, its career-oriented curricula emphasize the importance of the private enterprise system and the interrelationship between business and the arts.

O'Meara elected to label board

James O'Meara, national retail sales manager for the Food Products Division (U.S.A.) of Dean Foods, has been elected to the board of directors for the Private Label Manufacturers Association.

Elections took place during the organization's annual convention, held recently in New Orleans. O'Meara is one of three new board members who will serve for a three-year term.

He is responsible for all sales of Dean's non-dairy powdered creamer to the private-label retail marketplace. The Private Label Manufacturer's Association was founded to further interest in and promote a wide range of private-label products.

O'Meara lives in Farmington.

Paul Kitch

Paul Kitch of Farmington is the March carrier of the month. A ninth-grader at Brother Rice High School, he started as an Observer carrier in June 1978. The son of Richard and Marie Kitch, his favorite subjects are algebra, biology, English and Spanish. He hopes to attend the University of Michigan. A Boy Scout, he plays soccer and enjoys skiing and sailing. He has two sisters, Marsha and Michelle.
