Senate urges end to grain embargo

WASHINGTON: Here's how area members of Congress were re-elected on major roll call votes March 19-25.

HOUSE

COMMITTEE BUDGETS — By a vote of 184-255, the House rejected the more austere of two proposals for holding down the budgets of the 24 House committees. Most members voting for the measure were Republicans; most opponents were Democrats.

The rejected proposal sought to cut committee budgets by 10 percent of what the panels actually spent in 1980. The other, less austere measure — adopted by a near-unanimous vote — reduced 1981 committee spending by 10 percent of what was authorized in 1980. Because authorizations are higher than money actually spent, the latter measure still permitted a 6 percent hike over 1980 committee spending levels.

The votes came during debate on HR 115 which, as later approved, authorized about $39.6 million for 1981 committee budgets. Most of the money pays staff salaries.

Supporter Robert Michael, R-Ill., said "congressional committee staffing has increased at intolerable levels" without any accompanying increase in congressional productivity.

Opponent Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., said, "Congress must have adequate resources to do its work, and the most vital part of our life is performed by our committees."

Members voting "nay" were opposed to a deeper cut in committee budgets.

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, voted yes.

Reps. David Bonior, D-McClemens, William Ford, D-Taylor, William Brydhead, D-Detroit and James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge voted nay.

SENATE

GRAIN EMBARGO — The Senate adopted, 58-36, a resolution urging President Reagan to lift the embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union that former President Carter imposed last year in response to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. Reagan said during the campaign he would end the embargo, but as president he has not. The vote came during debate on S509, the milk price support bill.

Supporter John Melcher, D-Mont., said, "Our farmers do not appreciate being singled out to serve as a pawn in a diplomatic chess game."

No senator spoke against the resolution, which is not binding on the president.

Although all senators voting yes wanted the embargo lifted, many of them were willing to settle for this advisory measure rather than a stand that might have forced the president's hand on the issue.

Sen. Carl Levin, a Democrat, voted nay.

Sen. Donald Riegle, a Democrat, did not vote.

MILK SUPPORTS — The Senate passed, 89-5, and sent to the house a bill canceling the scheduled April 1 hike in milk price supports. Supporters said this will save $147 million and keep the price of a gallon of milk from going up eight cents.

Supporter Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., said "a vote for this legislation is not a vote in any way against the dairy farmers of this country." No opponents spoke against the bill.

Senators voting "yes" opposed hiking milk price supports Apr. 1. Riegle and Levin voted for the bill.
