

Gymnastics-- A Growing Sport Event For Girls

VICTORY STRETCH? - Karen Stewart of Farmington High School stretches to the limit while performing a floor exercise during recent gymnastic competition between FHS and North Farmington High School. Extra effort was required by all competitors as the final result saw the Raiders barely edging FHS 31.35 to 30.5. Trailing by a fraction of a point until the final event, tumbling, the North gymnasts won the competition by 1.85 points when the match ended. The Feb. 12 match between the two rivals was held in the gym at FHS.

POPULAR SPORT - The popularity of gymnastics is growing as can be seen by the large audience in the background watching Georgia Cubiak of North Farmington perform on the Uneven Bars. Four girls from each school were allowed to enter each category with the top three scores in each event added together for the team score.

BALANCE BEAM-Cathy McGovern of Farmington Senior High competes on the balance beam, an event won by a fellow Falcon competitor Denise Norton.

AN EXHIBITION - A teammate admires the form of Betsy Naumann of North Farmington as she performs on the trampoline. There was no competition in this event so Betsy put on an exhibition which was entertaining to the audience but did not help the Raiders' team score.

WATCHFUL EYE-A scorer keeps a watchful eye on Diane Terry of North Farmington during the vaulting competition. Judges score not only on correctness of the moves but on the poise and grace shown by the girls while performing.

THE CLINCHER-After all the events were completed, the match was decided by the tumblers whose performance gave the victory to the Raiders by a close margin. Shown above is Denise Norton of FHS doing an aerial maneuver.
