• PLATFORM NET WINNERS
Megan Foster of Southfield and Claire Slaughter of Birmingham won their third straight national platform tennis title recently.
Foster and Slaughter defeated hometown favorites Kaite Fektite and Pam Ruddick of Montclair, New dersey, 6-2,
6-3, for the crown in the Junior Nationall Platform Fennis Championships in Rumson, N.J.
This year's title was in the 18-andunder age division. Foster and Slaughter won the 18-and-under crown the past two years.

The netters won four matches — all in straight sets — en route to the national championship. They lost only 12 games in the eight sets plaque.

Foster is a sophomore at Bloomfield Hills Kingswood, Slaughter is a junior at Birmingham Seaholm. Both girls play prep tennis for their respective high schools.

To qualify for the national event, Foster and Slughter won the 18-and-unfor crown at the Detroit Junior Platform Tennis Championships. They detected Monica Tullock and Julier Rohinson of Grosse Pointe, 6-0, 6-1, in the finale. The local winners breezed through three matches, losing only one game in the straight-set victories.

One of the feature matches of the Detroit event was in the boys 18-andes. Keith Sotiroff of Birmingham and Drite Hofley of Bloomfield Hills chat to rivals J.R. and Craig Pitcairm of Pittsburg in an emotional five-set thriller, 6-4, 4-6, 4-5, 4-5.7.

Another local pair to reach the finals in the Detroit event was Ginny Gibbons and Ruth Lighting of Bloomfield Hills, who lost the championship match in the 15-and-under girls competition.
