

Kiwanis Club ready to start over again

A newly organized West Bloomfield Kiwanis Club is looking for members.

The club was organized locally by Darwin Heister. Kiwanis is dedicated to community service meets weekly at 6:30 p.m. Thursdays at Stafford's Inn in the Orchard Mall on Orchard Lake Road north of Maple.

After an absence of 10 years, Kiwanis is being re-established in the township, said Charles Fox, a former district secretary who is helping the re-organization.

Russell Buffet is charter president. Kiwanis Clubs of Farmington and New Center (Detroit) are the co-sponsors.

"Taking seriously its motto, 'We build', Kiwanis clubs concentrate on serving the community with emphasis on youth, the aged and the disadvantaged," said Fox.

The present membership of 25 has not yet picked a local service project.

Membership is open to men who live in or have other interests in the community they serve, Gene Overholt of Plymouth said at the first organizational meeting.

Overholt is the past governor of the Michigan District of Kiwanis.

Those joining now will be charter members.

Interested men may contact Buffet at 682-1907 or Emmons Smith at 651-2492 for information.

Former members of the local Kiwanis Club, which dissolved 10 years ago, or Kiwanians who have moved to West Bloomfield may want to join.

There are 7,663 Kiwanis clubs in 74 countries of the free world with a total membership of 300,000. The high schools affiliate Key Club has 97,000 members and a college counterpart, Circle K has 12,000 clubs.
