OU names director of alumni relations

Joan Stinson of Avon Township has been appointed director of alumni relations for Oakland University. She is a 1963 graduate of the university.

Ms. Stinson, 39, comes to OU from the Fiber Body Division of General Motors Corp., where she was employed as a materials manager and inventory and cost analyst.

In 1979, she became vice-president of the OU Alumni Board of Directors and chairwoman of the student career-sharing committee. She also acted as chairwoman for the 1980-81 telefund and worked as an OU alumni fund direct solicitation volunteer in 1978.

"Oakland's alumni body is unique in that two-thirds of the 20,000 graduates still reside in Michigan," Ms. Stinson said.

"For nearly 20 years, the skills and talents of the alumni have enhanced the various sectors of Oakland's community — business, industry, government, the arts and professions.

"They have been contributing to the excellence of the university through financial gifts — approximately $69,000 from 2,700 donors so far this year — which support numerous scholarships and grant programs.

"They have volunteered their talents in dedicated service on search committees, in sponsorship of career-sharing events, in encounter programs with students and faculty of the various schools, and many other areas in which their only comparison has been the hope that the university will be better for their involvement."

MS. STINSON'S involvement with the university began while she was a student. In 1962-63, she served as a student senator. She earned her bachelor of arts in secondary education (English) with a minor in history that year.

Her teaching career involved one year as an English teacher for Central High School in Pontiac, and another year as a substitute teacher for Royal Oak City Schools during the 1960s.

In 1976, Ms. Stinson went to GMC as a materials manager and eventually office supervisor. She assumed her position as an inventory and cost analyst in 1980.

In addition, Ms. Stinson has been active in various committees and groups throughout the years. During 1975-76, she developed a program for visual presentation of literature for lower elementary students in North Brunswick, N.J.

About OU, she said: "The alumni have demonstrated an awareness of the reciprocal benefits derived from their continued support of Oakland. An excellent university reflects well on its graduates.

"It is critical that the alumni relations office reaffirm its dedication to fostering continued involvement of graduates in the learning and decision-making processes and to building a strong development structure with which to maintain our excellence."
