

Patrick tourney set

Not all U.S. Senior Open entrants have left town. Golfing legend Sam Snead is sticking around to play in today's 5th Annual Van Patrick Golf Tournament at the Dearborn Country Club.

The annual tournament raises funds for the Michigan Cancer Foundation in memory of 'Ole Announcer' Patrick who lost his life to the disease in 1974. At the height of his 30-year career, Patrick broadcasted coast-to-coast 16 times weekly as sports director for the 550-station Mutual Broadcasting System.

Joining Snead will be basketball's $25-million-man Earvin 'Magic' Johnson, Dale Lundquist of the LPGA, Al Kaline, Sparky Anderson, Monte Clark, Ara Parseghian, PGA star Dan Plohl, Mike Souchak, Pete Brown, Walter Burkemo, D.A. Weirberg and other well-known golf and sports figures.

Celebrities will be joined by 100 amateur golfers paying $250 each to play in the tournament. Proceeds go to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Highlights between 3 and 5 p.m. will include golf pointers by Sam Snead, a demonstration of trick shots by local golfer Chip Isberg, a magic show by professional magician Al Wygant and a long-drive exhibition by Dan Pohl and D.A. Weirberg.

For spectators wishing to watch the tournament and demonstrations, the donation is $5.

Participating amateurs are eligible to compete in the hole-in-one contest and to win the use of a 1982 Continental Mark VI for a year.

The event is sponsored by several Detroit businesses including the United Technologies Automotive Group of Dearborn, a worldwide supplier of systems components to the automotive industry.

This year, sponsors hope to raise $60,000.

Top junior golfers

Two area junior golfers, Jean Roselli (left) of Farmington Hills and Meg Mallon of Birmingham, display their awards after playing in the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission Junior Golf Tournament at Springfield Oaks Golf Course. Mallon won the 16-19 age group title, and Roselli placed third. Tournament director Jim Mansfield (center) made the awards.
