

Motorcycles, ridden by Shriners, were a big feature of this year's festival parade.

Now that's some model airplane that Tim Goon is driving down Grand River during the Founders Festival Parade. He represented Joe's Hobby Shop.

Watching the parade can become an art when looking for just the right vantage point. These three found this fire escape just the right height to view the floats and marchers. The young enthusiasts are (from top) Colleen Mooney, John Mooney and Adam Mells.
