"Executive Dressing for Women"

It's not surprising that women who work in traditionally male-dominated fields, such as banking or law, often have difficulty knowing what's expected of them when it comes to dress code. "They haven't been in their jobs very long, nor are there many role models for them to emulate...so their dress codes haven't been defined," says Susanne Carroll, who's taken the guesswork out of dressing for the professional women in Birmingham. Her store for The Prestige Woman, carries skirts, jackets (suits are her best-sellers), blouses, bow ties, belts -- all of which cater to the fashion preferences of the professional woman.
