Something has this writer dissatisfied

Dear Mrs. Green:

I love to read your column, it's so interesting. I would be very pleased if you would analyze my handwriting. Thank you very much.

M.R., Birmingham

Dear M.R.:

At the time of this handwriting, a strong need for people and involvement is suggested. Yet it seems you do not always reach out to others. Apparently there is a bit of conflict here.

Some of your past experiences may not have been to your liking. But you are making an effort to get on with your life.

Still, there is something about your work or social life that has you dissatisfied. I also think someone is trying to tell you something, and you are trying to be future oriented and move away from the past, it continues to have its influence on your life. There has been some cultural exposure here. (Wide left and narrow right margins, r's shaped like Greek e's, combined with broken lower loops)

graphology

Lorene Green

AT TIMES, your feelings of self-esteem seem to vacillate a little. Security seems important, and you view life through practical eyes.

A good conversation is something you enjoy. Your contributions to a discussion would be interesting and meaningful. Words and ideas probably flow readily for you. (Pointed tops on p's, r's that resemble Greek e's and reverse lower loop of f's)

There is an element of reserve or formality about you. Occasionally, aggressiveness and a tendency to argue can manifest themselves.

While you may not wax enthusiastic about everything in life, there is some area of interest where you can be quite zealous. It might be golf or tennis. At any rate, it appears you enjoy physical activity. (Some elongated t bars and long lower loops especially on your p's)

If you have a question about your handwriting, write to Lorene Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Use a full sheet of white paper and write in the first person singular. Age and handedness are also helpful. Black ink reproduces best.

Jessica Savitch to talk at career conference

NBC correspondent Jessica Savitch heads a lineup of knowledgeable speakers scheduled for a Career Convention for Women Friday and Saturday, Feb. 12-13, in the Westin Hotel in Detroit's Renaissance Center.

Some 1,700 are expected to attend the panel discussions, seminars and lectures 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are $15 if ordered in advance or $20 at the door.

The list of speakers also includes Kate Rand Lloyd, editor of Working Woman magazine; Dr. John Weil, senior vice president of Bendix Corp. and a co-director of the Michigan High Tech Task Force, and Ralph Nichols, president of Dale Carnegie/Michigan.

For advance tickets, write to A Better Way Inc., 4000 Town Center, Suite 1030, Southfield 48075.

The Oakland County Volunteer Bureau has weekly listings of volunteer opportunities. Further information about these and other volunteer needs at more than 200 agencies may be obtained by calling the bureau at 647-2722. Any non-profit organization needing volunteer assistance may call the bureau.

WRITERS — If you enjoy writing and can organize information into readable form, you could help community services throughout the county. The Oakland County Volunteer Bureau is in need of an appeals coordinator to write descriptions of volunteer opportunities for weekly publicity in area newspapers. Flexible hours, approximately four hours per week.

COURT AIDES — Does the field of counseling or criminal justice interest you? Presentence investigators are needed to work with the 48th District Court probation department in Birmingham city hall. Volunteers would choose two-hour assignments Tuesday or Wednesday evenings.

OFFICE AIDES — Gain valuable office experience with a part-time clerical position. The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation needs volunteers to answer the phone, type and help with mailings at their Southfield and 10 Mile office. The hours are in the afternoon, and a minimum of five hours per week is requested.

PATIENT AIDES — Would you work well with medical patients? Friendly care attendants are needed by the Oakland County Medical Care Facility in Pontiac. Volunteers would keep the "comfort cart" supplied and distribute articles to patients once or more per month.
