

Mission workshop held at Tyndale

A missions seminar entitled "Missions Monopoly" will be at William Tyndale College on campus at 12 Mile and Drake Roads in Farmington Hills, Feb. 22 and 23, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The seminar will focus on individual and interpersonal dimensions of missionary life. Personnel from Send International will offer general and workshop sessions on a variety of pertinent topics. Don Hoyt of Team will present workshops, and a group dynamics seminar on cultural adjustments will be presented by Missionary Internship.

The public is invited. There is no charge for attendance. For further information, call the college at 553-7200.

Marygrove sponsors tutoring classes

The Marygrove College Learning Clinics will offer special one-to-one testing and tutoring for learning problems Wednesday, Feb. 17. The classes, consisting of 18 sessions, are aimed at students aged 7-21 years who have graduated from high school.

A complete learning assessment with recommendations for the home and school will be presented to parents at the end of the program. The classes and testing will be conducted by certified teachers in learning disabilities.

Parent/teacher conferences are also available.

The tutoring and testing will be held every Monday and Wednesday from Feb. 17 through April 19 from 5-6 p.m. or 6-7 p.m. The classes will take place in the Marygrove Learning Clinics in Madame Cadillac Hall, second floor, Marygrove College, 8425 West McNichols (corner of Wyoming), Detroit 48221. Participation is limited. Please call 862-8000, ext. 302, for fee information and class details.
