Molasses rollups are perfect for parties

Early Moravian settlers celebrated the winter season in very special ways, such as by making multipointed Moravian stars, beeswax candles and, of course, tasty goodies using one of their favorite staples, molasses.

Recipes such as these Molasses Lace Roll-Ups are nutritious, tasty and pretty enough for the fanciest of parties, yet easy enough for the busiest of cooks.

Emphasize the tradition by serving coffee in antique mugs with the Roll-Ups.

MOLASSES LACE ROLL-UPS
Preheat oven to 300 degrees
Grease cookie sheet
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup molasses
2 tsp. ground ginger
1 1/2 tsp. brandy

1 1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour

In a saucepan, combine butter, sugar, molasses and ginger. Heat until butter melts, stirring to blend. Remove from heat; gradually stir in brandy and flour. Drop a heaping teaspoonful of dough onto cookie sheet for each of four cookies, allowing for spreading, since the baked cookies measure 3 or more inches. Bake for 8-10 minutes or until done. Cookies are done when they stop spreading and bubbling and appear lacy in texture.

Remove from oven and let stand on cookie sheet for about two minutes. Remove carefully and roll each around the handle of a wooden spoon quickly as they become crisp rapidly. Cool on rack. Store in airtight container.

Makes about four dozen.
Note: If cookie becomes cool and hardens on cookie sheet, return to oven for a minute or two to soften.
