Gridder gets another year at Holy Cross

Farmington Hills' Terry Malone, a senior tight end on the Holy Cross College football team, has been awarded another year of eligibility at the Worcester, Mass., school because he missed most of his freshman year due to mononucleosis.

Malone, who prepped at Detroit Catholic Central, was one of the top performers at Holy Cross last fall, finishing with 23 catches for 259 yards. Holy Cross compiled a 6-5 record, its first winning season since 1978.

"We feel very fortunate to have Terry back with us for the 1982 season," said Holy Cross coach Rick Carter. "He's an outstanding player and will give us an outstanding player at tight end and slot."
