roll call report

Here's how area House members and senators were recorded on major roll call votes March 2-10.

HOUSE

WATER — By a vote of 311 for and 50 against, the House passed a bill to settle a water claim brought against the government by the Papago Indians of Arizona. The 14,000-member tribe would be guaranteed water from federal sources in Arizona and the city of Tuscon, and the government would set up a $15 million trust fund to indemnify the Indians for past federal abuses of their water rights. The bill (HR 5118) was sent to the senate.

The essentially undisputed basis of the claim is that for nearly 100 years the government failed in its legal obligation to protect the tribes's dwindling water supply and, in fact, encouraged nearby development that deprived the tribe of its water.

Supporter Robert Lagomarsino, R-Calif. called the bill "the best and least expensive" way to settle the claim.

No opponents spoke against the bill. The Administration opposed it as too expensive, citing a $101 million price tag that supporters disputed.

Members voting "yea" saw the bill as the best means of resolving the long-period water claim.

Reps. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth; David Bonior, D-Mount Clemens; William Ford, D-Taylor; William Brodhead, D-Detroit; William Broomfield, D-Birmingham; all voted "yea."

Rep. James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge did not vote.

CHILE — The Senate confirmed, 83 for and 12 against, the nomination of James D. Theberge as U.S. ambassador to Chile. Theberge, a former Georgetown University professor and Marine Corps. lieutenant, was ambassador to Nicaragua under President Ford. Most Senators opposing his confirmation were liberals protesting the Reagan Administration's moves toward closer ties with the right-wing military dictatorship which rules Chile. But opponents also included conservatives who linked Theberge's Nicaraguan tenure with the left-wing overthrow of the Somozan dictatorship.

Supporter Charles Percy, R-Ill., siad Theberge "has not had any role in determining our policy towards Chile," and that the nominee possesses "the highest levels of professional integrity and dedication."

Opponent Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., said the Senate should send the White House and the Chilean government "a clear message" that it dislikes the regime's long, well-documented record of deliberate and grievous human rights violations."

Senators voting "yea" favored Theberge's nomination. Sen. Carl Levin, D, voted "yea." Sen. Donald Riegle, D, voted "nay."

OIL PLAN — By a vote of 86 for and 7 against, the Senate approved legislation (s 1503) giving President Reagan standby authority to allocate oil supplies in the event of a shortage of foreign supplies. It is up to the president to decide whether to use the authority. The bill has been sent to the White House.

Supporter Bennett Johnston, D-La., said "it is too late if we wait for the Straits of Hormuz to be blockaded," and he added that the president opposes the legislation because it would mean work for the Department of Energy, which Reagan wants to abolish.

Opponent Don Nickles, R-Oka., said that federal allocation during the 1973 and 1979 oil shortages "actually contributed (to), complicated, and aggravated the shortages that we had at those particular times."

Senators voting "yea" wanted President to have the standby allocation powers.

Levin and Riegle voted "yea."
