

Fantasy fills hearts of Wooddale students

The Cheshire Cat (Stephen Roberts) entertained the students with song and dance.

Ron Williams warmed up the audience before the start of the opera.

The children were fascinated with the costumes and music of the opera.

Valerie Errante holds her audience captive.

INSIDE ANGLES

LET'S HEAR IT for Jennifer Dudley Greenwell of Farmington, who has been named public relations director for Weight Watchers of eastern and central Michigan. A graduate of Michigan State University, she had been previously employed with the Detroit News.

DUFFERS, GET OUT THOSE CLUBS and head on out to the San Marino Golf Course. The nine-hole course is located on 75 acres at Halsted, south of 12 Mile. Golf rates are $4.50 for nine holes and $8 for 18 holes during weekdays and $5 for nine holes and $9 for 18 holes during weekends and holidays. Special senior (60 and older) and junior (17 and under) rates are available Monday through Friday between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Those rates are $2.50 for nine holes. Also available are a pro shop, electric and pull carts and a snack bar.

DORIS SCHARFENBERGER who is going to lead the program called Michigan Travel Time at the Farmington branch library on May 6 will be honored by the state for saying yes to Michigan. Word got to the Farmington Hills resident this week that she will be given an award by governor for her work as a travel writer promoting Michigan for travelers. She's a freelance writer for a dozen publications, both locally and nationally, but concentrates on Michigan. Her first book, "The Long Blue Edge of Summer," also about Michigan vacationland and published by Erdman Publishers, will be in local bookstores before the month is out. The award she has been given through the state's department of tourism, has been given to only two persons before her, and one of those was to George Pierrot.

A LOOK AT THE criminal justice system will be afforded to the public today from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the 47th District Court on 10 Mile, east of Farmington Road. Tours will be given during the day.

SANDY DONLON, one of the promoters of Opportunity Farmington, reports that her recording machine was "full within hours after the story of the game was published in the Farmington Observer." A member of Farmington Hills Junior Women's Club, Donlon asks that calls be diverted to two other members of the club who are developing the Monopoly-type game devised to raise $10,000 for local agencies. Persons representing businesses or groups who would like to have their name included on the game board are asked to call Judy Johnson, 553-2234, or Rae Howard, 661-1644.

PLANS ARE WELL under way for the craft areas of the Farmington Founders' Festival for 1982. All three areas, crafters' corner, Downtown Center and the Farmington Plaza, will again be featuring a wide variety of crafts including woodworking, stained glass, flower arrangements, handwork specialties and several other kinds of crafts. Several artists will also be exhibiting their work in oils, pastels, watercolors, pen and ink and acrylic. If you are interested in renting a table for the display or sale of your craft, there is still available space in all three areas. Please call Mary Turton at 474-9133 for further information or an application.

GRAND RAPIDS is charging before our eyes. Join the Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation department to tour one of the city's newly renovated hotels, the Amway Grand Plaza, formerly the Pontland Hotel. Lunch will be on your own followed by a film and tour of the Gerald R. Ford museum. The museum has displays and information from Ford's early years in Grand Rapids through his years as president of the United States. Departure is at 8:30 a.m. from the Farmington Hills City Hall with return at approximately 5:30 p.m. Fee is $16.50 and includes deluxe motor coach transportation and museum fees. Registration deadline is May 7.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES of the Farmington Community Library recently conducted its election of officers. Elected president was James Ebel and James Wibby was elected vice president. Lois Carey was elected secretary and Ernest Sauter was elected treasurer.

SO THAT NEW YEAR'S resolution to stop smoking has gone by the wayside, has it? Well, there's always another chance. For those of you who are bound and determined, a class will be offered at Oakland Community College beginning May 5 at 7:30 p.m. The class lasts for seven sessions. Conducting the class will be Phyllis Friedman of the Smoke No More program. The classes are being sponsored by the OCC's Women Center. The class features small groups for support and reinforcement for each member. Anyone who likes can discuss his or her difficulties and accomplishments after quitting, requesting group suggestions. Follow-up meetings are conducted. Friedman also directed the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout at the Orchard Ridge campus. Fee for the class is $30. For registration call 476-9400, extension 226.
