

Painters and sculptors join for show and sale

A two- and three-dimensional art exhibit combining the professional talents of the Detroit Society of Women Painters and Sculptors and the Birmingham Sculptors Guild will be on display in the Somerset Mall June 10 and 20. Many of these artists are teachers in schools, and some 70 members producing work in stone, wood, metal, clay, bronze and exhibitions and galleries throughout the world.

The Detroit Society of Women Painters and Sculptors was founded 75 years ago. Its membership has spread beyond Detroit and it has become the oldest art society in the Midwest. Watercolors, oils, acrylics, collage and graphics are included in the exhibit.

Birmingham Sculptors Guild in its 29th year with this exhibit, and these artists are teachers in schools, and some 70 members producing work in stone, wood, metal, clay, bronze and exhibitions and galleries throughout the world.

Jurors for the event will be Joseph Mancoske, portraitist and teacher, and Alden Smith from Wayne State University.

Mulch will cut down on garden work

Here is some good tree planting advice — in windy areas, a tree should be planted with the most heavily branched side facing into the wind.

When you have a planting site where the wind isn't a problem, the most heavily branched side should face northeast so the less developed area will be favored with more light.

Many of our readers report they have looseleaf notebooks for gardening. This is a good tip to remember, for in this transient time, you can never tell

down to earth
Alice Burlingame

when you might have the moving van at your door.

Our county extension agent, Gregory Patchan, says there has been a report of the cedar-apple rust fungus. It looks like an orange golf ball in the spring on your cedars.

THE SPORES from this formation will be attracted to hawthornes and quinces and spores from this host will infect junipers in the fall. It sounds like a ballgame. When these orange spores are detected, they should be sprayed with Zineb or Fore, spring and fall.

At this date, if you want to cut down on routine labor with vegetables, consider using a mulch. Don't work it into the soil, rather lay it on the surface, 2-4 inches deep. You can use straw, leaves, grass clippings and mulch you can buy. A mulch will increase your crop, cut down on your work and give you some of that leisure you seek. An easy addition would be to mix in Rapid Grow in a two quart sprinkling can and feed the leaves of your vegetables or flowers. With each stop, I count 10, sort of fast, and I think that helps give the correct amount for each stop.

Acid rain from air pollution keeps popping up in research. In Norway the lichens on which the deer feed are getting smaller by acid rain and the deer are growing smaller.

Sweden reports that the rain is acidifying the lakes and streams, killing trout and salmon.

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL in Washington, D.C., shows an alarming amount of surface erosion. Greece and other European countries are alarmed at the condition of their outdoor sculpture. Buildings and equipment are damaged by acid rain and the nutrient value of the soil is also being affected. Local gardeners should pay attention if spotting a caterpillar with blue and red dots. The rascals can be two inches long. Be sure and call our county agent immediately, as we are all on the alert against the infiltration of the gypsy moth.

Quaker Valley seeks new sponsors, patrons

Quaker Valley Theatre is looking for sponsors and patrons to be part of the non-profit organization.

Based now in Farmington Masonic Temple, the community theater is just a year old but is already working on its fourth show, "The Boyfriend."

"If you enjoy live theater but are not interested in the performing aspect, you can still support local theater by becoming a patron or sponsor," said

Laurie Smalls who started the theater with a nucleus of members from First Presbyterian Church of Farmington.

The patron donation of $10 brings the donor show announcements, one ticket to each show of the season and his or her name listed in each show's playbill.

Sponsors who donate $20 or more receive show announcements, two tickets to each show of the season, and if they wish, an ad in the playbill.
