Camelot Gown Worn By Bride

Linda Rae Johnson became the bride of Wayne Thomas Cummins Jr., on Aug. 10, in the First Baptist Church of Allegan.

THE BRIDE wore a floor-length empire Camelot gown of organza and Chantilly lace. The gown featured a bodice of lace with a high-jeweled neckline with tiny covered buttons down the back. The skirt was bordered with lace and the detachable train was lightly bordered with flowers to chapel length.

A Camelot veil matched the dress, and the bride carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, white sweetheart roses, and baby's breath. Julie Johnson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Suzanne Miller, of Pittsburgh, Jane Hunter, of Allegan, Roxanne Sheffer, of Allegan, Janice Adams, of Detroit, and Elizabeth Koplin, of Orchard Lake. Sue Ellen Miller and Ronald Scott Miller, also from Allegan, were flower girl and ring bearer.

THE ATTENDANTS' dresses were pink dotted-sweat chiffon over taffeta, with matching pillbox headpieces. The maid of honor carried pink sweetheart roses, pink carnations, and baby's breath, and the bridesmaids' bouquets included white carnations.

Nathan Cummins, brother of the bridegroom, of Plymouth, served as best man and Theodore Diener, of Philadelphia; Jack Stoltz, of Ocean City, N.J.; James Ayer, of Chicago; Rick Johnson, brother of the bride, of Allegan, and Richard Graham, of Minneapolis, were groomsmen.

THE MOTHER of the bride wore a champagne beige silk shantung dress with silver slippers and bag. The bridegroom's mother chose a lavender lace over-crepe dress with matching accessories.

The couple went to northern Michigan for their honeymoon and will reside in Westland where the bridegroom will begin teaching history at Adlai Stevenson Junior High School in the fall.

The bride attended Taylor University, Upland, Ind. The bridegroom is a graduate of Plymouth High School and Taylor U.
