Election results bring out grins and grimaces

A big smile heralded victory for John Anderson in this week's GOP 15th District state Senate race. He will face Jack Faxon in November.

A victorious Jack Faxon expounds to election workers who aided him in winning the 15th State Senate Democratic primary.

Disappointment masks the face of state Sen. Dana Wilson who was defeated in his bid for election in the newly-apportioned district.

Richard Corey (right) made sure he kept tabs on races around the state by listening to his radio. Corey lost in his bid to gain the Republican primary win for the 15th District state Senate seat. Standing next to him is Barbara DuPont.

A familiar face at Headlee's victory celebration was former Michigan Governor George Romney who was instrumental in seeing Headlee to his primary victory.

Gathering around television sets at Headlee election-night headquarters in Southfield's Michigan Inn, supporters had some tense moments as incoming tallies showed the race to be close.
