Angels capture Challenge Cup

The Farmington Angels girl's soccer team added another mark to its list of accomplishments in 1982. It captured the Michigan Challenge Cup with a 3-1 win over West Bloomfield Monday night.

Along with the Michigan Challenge Cup, the Angels won the league title (for the third consecutive year) with a 10-1 record, traveled to Cleveland and won the regional championship and reached the semi-finals in the Robble Tournament played in Toronto, Canada. That tournament involved 32 teams from across the United States and Canada.

In the final regular season game on Sunday, the Angels were dumped by West Bloomfield, 4-2, for the only league loss the Angels suffered this season. The loss proved to be even greater as goaltender Colleen Miller suffered two broken fingers and would not be able to play in the Challenge Cup finals the next day.

In the Cup finals, Angel head coach John Magee inserted Sue Ferguson, normally a scoring forward, in the lineup as goaltender.

"SUE FERGUSON'S versatility really helped us out," Magee said. "She really played excellently in goal. Going into the game, I didn't think our chances were too good, but we came out of it."

Aided by captain Nancy Glynn's two goals, and another by Julie Gnau, Ferguson held West Bloomfield to only one goal, and the Angels came away with the Cup.

Magee, in his fourth year of coaching the Angels, expressed his appreciation to several people for helping the team to a successful season.

"I would like to express a special thanks to Ethel Larson, our delegate who helped us out tremendously with her organization. And also, I would like to thank my assistants, George Grantham and Ben Stomberg, and also extend a thank you to captain Nancy Glynn and co-captain Patty Larson for their help with the team throughout the season," he said.

The 1982 Angels girl's soccer team included: Ferguson, Glynn, Larson, Miller, Gnau, Marybeth Egan, Stephanie Scott, Dana Allen, Barbara Blumhardt, Martha Glynn, Becky Johnson, Sue Ann Koppmeier, Sue Neumann, Chris Schetter, Julie Stachek, Caroline Trout and Irene Whittemore.

Magee summed up the 1982 season by saying, "The abilities and talents of these fine athletes brought them the success they attained."
