

Local campus sets registration

Michigan State University's Birmingham Center, 20500 W. 13 Mile Road at Evergreen, has begun fall-term registration. Persons who join a course without being formally admitted to MSU.

There will be a variety of graduate and undergraduate course work offered including Communication in Business, Industrial Packaging, Wilderness Survival, Cable Communication and Communicating Comfortably with the Handicapped.

College of Education course work includes Computer Applications in Instruction, Psychology of the Gifted Student, Methods of Reading at the Secondary Level and Teaching English as a Second Language.

Complete master of arts degrees are obtainable in journalism, classroom teaching or school and social agency counseling.

A variety of academic advisors will be available beginning Sept. 14 to meet with persons interested in degrees or continuing certification.

To arrange an appointment with an advisor, or to receive a free brochure detailing MSU course work in Birmingham, call 645-5410.

Great books discussed

The Farmington Hills Library is organizing an adult book discussion group to meet from 7:30-9 p.m. every other Thursday in the library at 32737 W. 12 Mile Road.

The first session will begin tonight with a selection of short stories by Katherine Mansfield, Sherwood Anderson and others.

The group will alternate selections from the Great Books series with lighter fare from the Norton Introduction to Literature. Works to be discussed include "Phaedo" by Plato, "Man and Master" by Tolstoy, "Guide for the Perplexed by Maimonides" and "The Interpretation of Dreams" by Freud.

The paperbacks which will be used this year are available for purchase at the library. The cost of these books is the only charge to the group. To sign up for the program or for more information contact Margaret Thomas, Geri Furi or Marilyn Smith at 553-0300.
