Gov. William Milliken recently announced the reappointments of two Oakland County residents to the Oakland University Board of Control.

Patricia B. Hartman of Birmingham and Ken Morris of Troy were appointed to terms expiring Aug. 11, 1990, subject to Senate confirmation.

Hartman has served on the board since 1980 and Morris was first appointed in 1970.

House rejects promotion of organic farming

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes prior to the Labor Day recess.

HOUSE

ORGANIC FARMING: The House defeated 169-193 a bill requiring the Department of Agriculture to promote farming methods that reduce the use of chemical fertilizers and pesticides. The bill would have required establishment of six organic farming pilot projects and other measures at an annual cost of $2 million.

Rep. James Weaver, D-Ore., sponsor of the bill, said alternative methods of fertilization and pest control will become vital "as oil grows more scarce and nitrogen fertilizers from fossil fuels become more scarce."

Opponent Joseph Skeen, R-N.M., called the measure "an ill-advised move to study the principles of organic agriculture that have been studied and studied since the beginning of time."

Members voting "yea" favored government promotion of organic farming.

Reps. David Bonior, D-Mt. Clemens, William Ford, D-Taylor, William Brodhead, D-Detroit and James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge, voted "yea."

Rep. William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, voted "nay."

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, did not vote.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESEARCH: By a vote of 244-153, the House voted to continue funding for Environmental Protection Agency research at the current level of $277.9 million per year. The Reagan administration had proposed a $62 million cut. The vote came on an amendment to an EPA research authorization bill (HR 6323) later passed and sent to conference with the Senate.

Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., who supported the higher funding level, said the administration's proposed cut would result in "more pollution and a deterioration in environmental quality and public health."

Opponent William Carey, R-N.Y., said EPA is willing to "pare down, tighten up and improve quality and efficiency."

Members voting "yea" supported high funding for EPA research that the administration had requested.

Bonior, Ford, Brodhead and Blanchard voted "yea."

Pursell and Broomfield voted "nay."

DEFENSE FUNDS: By a vote of 251-148, the House passed and sent to President Reagan a $177.9 billion defense spending measure for fiscal 1983. The administration originally requested an authorization of $182.5 billion. The bill also included $182 million in additional defense funds for fiscal 1982.

Supporter William Dickinson, R-Ala., said the spending is "an adequate amount to continue the rebuilding of our military strength."

Opponent Mike Lowry, D-Wash., said "military spending cuts are an essential part of a responsible fiscal policy which will reduce record-high deficits and lead to economic recovery."

Members voting "nay" thought the defense outlay was too high.

Broomfield voted "yea."

Pursell, Bonior, Brodhead and Blanchard voted "nay."

Ford did not vote.

SENATE

DEFENSE BILL: The Senate passed, 77-21, and sent to the House the final version of the $177.9 billion defense authorization bill (S 2248) for the next fiscal year. (See preceding House vote.)

Supporter Jeremiah Denton, R-Ala., said that bill begins the process of correcting "the defense imbalance that resulted from the fiscal neglect of our security requirements over the past decade."

Opponent William Proxmire, D-Wis., said "this bill is of unacceptable size given our economic situation."

Senators voting "yea" favored the defense bill. Sens. Carl Levin, and Donald Riegle, both Democrats, voted "nay."
