Old-fashioned Mortgages at Award-winning Development

A nationally-acclaimed subdivision in Farmington Hills is supporting its creative ideas with some old-fashioned financing. At Country Ridge, homebuyers can take advantage of conventional 30-year mortgages at 13 1/4% with a 20% down payment. Downriver Federal Savings & Loan is offering the special program at Country Ridge because it financed the development and wants to stimulate sales.

Unlike other creative financing packages, the terms of Downriver's program are easy to understand and can provide homebuyers with substantial savings. For example, the usual rate of a 30-year conventional mortgage is 17%. On a $100,000 mortgage, the 13 1/4% rate offered at Country Ridge would translate into a savings of $17 per month.

With interest rates trending downwards, Downriver figures its program is a step ahead of the market. And with winter construction rates expected to rise, homebuyers can now get the benefit of both lower interest and construction costs. However, the special money is limited and available only while it lasts.

According to Dallas Nagy of Image Plus, the marketing firm for the development, the straightforward financing has already brought a straightforward response.
