York milieu of Bloomfielddale's and Broadway. "70, Girls, 70" treats its characters with great warmth and affection.

Chorus members appear with clothes askew, hairnets plastering down their hair and various degrees of senility showing. One particularly touching scene shows the group happily watching a television set that doesn't work, for this way they can each "see" their favorite show.

The eight-piece orchestra sounds fine. Pianist Joan Bowes is featured as Lorraine, who becomes a character in the play.

Makeup for the show is not particularly well-handled. Some performers exhibit funny white streaks, especially around the jaw line, that in no way suggest wrinkles.

Ara Berberian, basso from the Mol, will be soloist at Oakway's upcoming concert.

Christmas at the Holly Hotel Battle Alley Saloon in Holly. The musical revue was created and produced by Michael J. Klier of West Bloomfield especially for the holiday season. Performances are at 9:30 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays and 3 p.m. Sundays. The admission charge of $10 per person includes wine and cheese during the performance.

BLOOMFIELD CANOPY
Al Craigie, one-man band with guitar versatility, plays from 6-11 p.m. Mondays-Thursdays and 7 p.m. to midnight Fridays-Saturdays at the Bloomfield Canopy in West Bloomfield.

"THE TEMPEST"
John McGowan, son of Jim and Donna McGowan of Birmingham, is appearing as Ferdinand in the University of Michigan's University Players' production of Shakespeare's "The Tempest," starring Nicholas Pennell. "The Tempest," directed by Richard Burgwin, will be performed at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Dec. 4 and 2 p.m. Dec. 5 in the Power Center, Ann Arbor. For more information, contact the Professional Theatre Program ticket office at 764-0450.

SANTA'S PARADE
Santa's Thanksgiving Parade will start at 10 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day, down Woodward Avenue in Detroit. Among the bands participating will be the Franklin Village Band, making its 14th appearance aboard a float. The parade features 17 floats, 15 bands, a number of specialty and clown groups and 2,200 marchers. Santa's Parade activities will be presented live, starting at 9 a.m., on WXVZ-TV, with John Kelly and Marilyn Turner as hosts.

OAKWAY SYMPHONY
Metropolitan Opera basso Ara Berberian highlights a concert featuring the works of contemporary Armenian composers Hovhannes Yordumian, with the Oakway Symphony Orchestra, at 3 p.m. Sunday at Harrison High School in Farmington Hills. Tickets at $6, $3 for senior citizens and students, are available at Madonna College or Harmon Music in Livonia, Botford Inn in Farmington Hills, the Southfield Cultural Arts Division, or by calling the Oakway Symphony office at 476-8544 or 522-7846.

'Show Boat' due as holiday show

The Houston Grand Opera production of "Show Boat" will be the holiday attraction Dec. 14 through Jan. 2 at the Masonic Temple Theatre in Detroit.

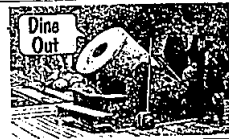

The current production will open in New York shortly after the Detroit engagement. The Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein II musical, based on the Edna Ferber novel, will star movie actor Donald O'Connor as the inimitable Cap'n Andy. A local actress, Lonette McKee, will play the role of Julie. Others in the cast include Jacques Trussell, Wayne Turnage, Karla Burns, Avril Gentile, Paul Keith, Alexander Korey and P.L. Brown. For information about prices and performances, call 832-2232.

"Show Boat" is a work which greatly changed the course of the American musical theater and is often credited as the breakthrough in the history of America's musical stage. It has been called the first musical play—a lyric piece with a relatively serious romantic story, where the musical score is thoroughly integrated into the plot of the book.

THE ACTION moves from the 1880s through the turn of the century into the 1920s. It tells the story of the lives and loves of the "show boat" people over a period of 40 years.

For this new production the producer has reached back to the 1927 score and script for many of the critical elements of the original production.

"Show Boat," produced by Florence Ziegfeld in 1927, starred Charles Wininger as Cap'n Andy, Edna Mae Oliver as Parlay Ann, his wife, and Helen Morgan as Julie. Opening night tickets cost $100, for Ziegfeld wanted to make it a very special occasion in theatrical history.

We're noted for our excellent prime rib, steaks, fresh seafoods, beautiful salads and irresistible home made desserts.
