for mile road would pay $98.89. Single-family residences fronting one of the main roads would be assessed double or $197.78.

Multiple buildings and businesses would be assessed more, based on the formula which includes easement, drainage, cleanup, engineering and assessment costs.

Payments may be financed for a period of up to five years at an interest rate of 11.5 percent (after the first interest-free year).

"Among the people who did come, there was a mixed reaction to the plan," Blaisell said.

"Some didn't want sidewalks. They moved here because they wanted to live in a rural area. To them sidewalks represent an urban situation and they're unnecessary."

"Others are concerned with having sidewalks for children and senior citizens to walk to the YMCA, schools and churches."

According to the city's flexible schedule, construction would take place in mid-summer. Petitions must be received by the city by Dec. 16.

Public hearings, bond applications, acquisition of easements and the awarding of a construction contract would follow. Aug. 31 is the date targeted for completion.

McGovern to speak

Former U.S. Democratic Sen. George McGovern will be the guest speaker in the first program sponsored by the newly established Max Mark Memorial Fund at Wayne State University.

McGovern will talk on "The People's Mandate for Peace" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, in the Engineering Society of Detroit Auditorium. Admission is $5 with a reduced rate of $2 for students. Further information may be obtained by calling 577-3453.

McGovern, long-time senator from South Dakota, was a candidate for President in 1972. He is currently chairman of Americans for Common Sense, a public interest group seeking to build a conference to the right-wing, single-issue organizations which have surfaced in American politics.

The Center for Peace and Conflict Studies and the Department of Political Science at WSU established the Max Mark Memorial Fund. Knowledge for Peace and Justice as a tribute to the late Dr. Max Mark, who died in his native Vienna, Austria, in July at the age of 72. He had retired as a professor of Political Science in 1980 after 28 years of service at WSU.

Special entertainment at the party will come from "The Kid's Connection."

All stores in the mall will be closed for the party.

While there is no charge for the party, mimes and elves will accept donations, large or small, from visitors who press The Magic Button.

Donations will go to Detroit Science Center, a privately supported facility which opens the world of science and technology to children of all ages, located at 5020 John R Street, Detroit.

The current show in Detroit Science Center's Space Theater is "Tail Columbus," an animated film of the story of America's space exploration.

Physician honored for 50-year service

Dr. Conrad Lam of Farmington Hills recently was honored for 50 years service with Henry Ford Hospital.

Lam, who has been with HFH since 1932, is a consultant with the division of cardiac and thoracic surgery and curator of the HFH Archives.

Lam received a set of bookends bearing the HFH insignia during a presentation which was part of the recent reunion held on HFH's Detroit grounds.

Hills woman appears in 'The Tempest'

Marianne James, daughter of Richard and Patricia James of Farmington Hills, will appear as the Goddess Ceres in the University of Michigan's University Players' production of Shakespeare's "The Tempest."

She will appear with stage, screen and television actor, Nicholas Pennell.

"The Tempest," directed by Richard Burgwin, will run Dec. 1-4 at 8 p.m. and Dec. 5 at 2 p.m. in the Power Center, Ann Arbor. For more information, contact the Professional Theatre Program ticket office, 764-0450.
