Take the holidays in stride

It's holiday time, and the living is hectic: shopping, errands, "let's-get-together" lunches and, of course, all the parties of the season, from afternoon open houses to big evening bashes.

How can you cope with all the rush and excitement and look your best? These tips from Charles of the Ritz can help:

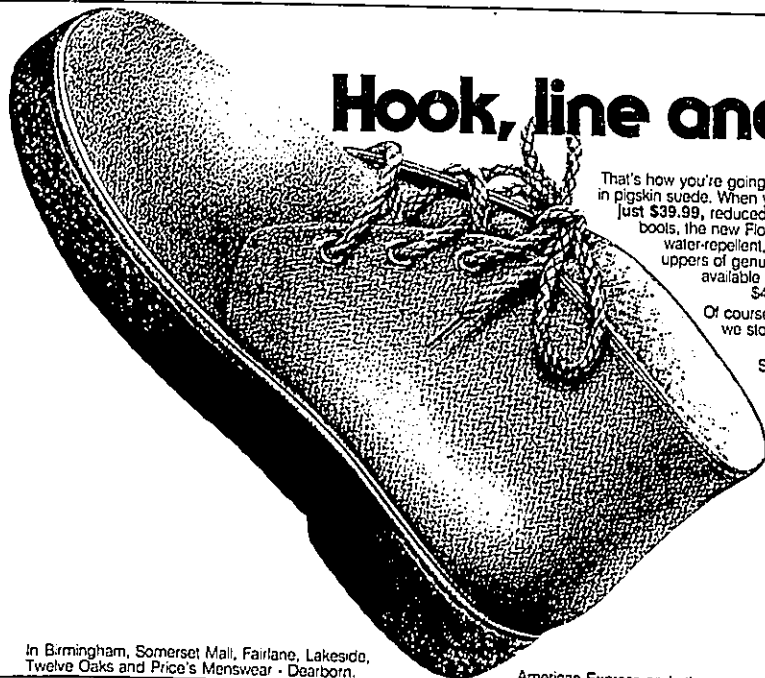

Get your hair cut into an easy-care style before the pace picks up. A soft perm gives you the option to let hair dry into casual soft waves or to set it into a dressier hairdo with rollers or pin curls. If your time is tight, don't spend it on elaborate hairstyling. Depend on sparkly combs or hair ornaments like soft silk flowers to add a festive touch.

WHEN CHOOSING your holiday face, go for a fresh makeup scheme that can go from party to party, or from day to night. One such selection is a soft, rich palette of rose tones. Charcoal shadow and kohl pencil add drama; gold shadow and pearly highlighters turn on the sparkle. Wear this singular sensation soft and subtle with just a fresh bloom of rose, the lightest touch of charcoal and kohl. Or glitz it up with gleaming highlights and a sweep of golden "champagne" shadow.

You're superb at organizing everything from tree-trimming to the annual Christmas caroling, yet 10 minutes before the party, you may still not have put together the outfit that will dazzle 'em. The solution? Invest in separates for both day and evening. Good buys are a graceful-long skirt, black velvet pants. Each can look festive but casual by day with a soft cotton blouse, or go dressy by night with a ruffy blouse or silky, slinky top.

A GLITTERY scarf and sparkly earrings are your best accessory bets.

Hook, line and sinker.

That's how you're going to go for the new Bates Floater® in pigskin suede. When you find out it's specially priced at just $39.99, reduced from $50.00. Like all other Bates boots, the new Floater's a great cold combatant. It's water-repellent, lined with a cozy fleece pile, with uppers of genuine leather. And the Floater's also available in a smooth brown leather for just $44.99, marked down from $55.00.

Of course, Sherman's doesn't skimp when we stock sizes. We can fit anybody with size 7 to 13, medium to EEE.

So mosey on in and take a look at Sherman's new Bates Floater. It's tempting bait for cold Michigan tootsies. See? There you go. Hook, line and sinker.
