Mercyaires compete in choral festival

The Mercy High School Mercyaires from Farmington Hills will be among the Michigan choral groups competing in statewide Great American Choral Festival competition February 11 and 12. Area choral groups interested in entering the competition can contact the Plymouth Community Chorus, host organization for the Michigan competition, at 377 Amelia, Suite 202, Plymouth 48170, telephone 455-4080.

The competition is the brainchild of composer-arranger Johnny Mann of "Stand Up and Cheer" fame.

Winners of the state competition, to be held at Plymouth-Salem High School, will move on to national competition designed to select the best amateur singing organization in the country.
