Support urged for Jaycee effort

To the editor:

Jan. 10-17 marks a special week, saluting some very special people. President Reagan calls them a national resource, and former Gov. Milliken highlights their efforts as saving many Michigan residents from pain, disability, and disfigurement. We take this chance to underscore their many accomplishments in working with the National Institute for Burn Medicine to train professionals, publish educational materials, distribute prevention brochures, and educate the citizens of our state about the number one killer of children in our homes — BURNS.

The National Institute for Burn Medicine salutes the Michigan Jaycees and their President Terry Seaver and the Farmington Jaycees and their President Tom Brown during Michigan Jaycee Week for their commitment to giving burn victims all the help that can be made available. With the help of these young men, and over 11,000 others in Michigan, we work together to give burn victims a fighting chance.

Irving Feller, M.D., President National Institute for Burn Medicine Ann Arbor

Traffic will increase

To the editor:

I would like to voice my opinion on the development of Orchard Lake Road between Twelve Mile and Fourteen Mile Roads. The uprising buildings are mostly popular fast food restaurants which will attract many people. The result of these restaurants will cause even more traffic and congestion than our community all ready has.

I wish that the contractors would consider the results of this construction before starting to build.

Youth lauded for efforts

To the editor:

Headline stories are usually about problems, crises, troublemakers, or the negative side of society. Around this holiday season and just for a moment I would like to dwell on two very bright, positive young people we had the great fortune to meet.

The two young people were part of a small group of volunteers recruited by the Goodfellows to assist in the actual labor of processing and delivery of the Goodfellow gifts on Saturday, Dec. 18, 1982.

The two we specifically wish to thank are Michele and Mark; they worked without complaint, stopping or indulging in horseplay until the job was completed. These young people never complained about being cold, dirty, tired, hungry or sore.

Their parents, teachers and friends should be proud to work with them. We hope the New Year brings more like Michele and Mark to our Farmington.

Thank you!
Bud LeBlanco and Terry Lutz Farmington

Aircraft specialist joins Scans Association

Robert Benitz of Farmington Hills, a specialist in the testing of aircraft engine and fuel components, has joined the engineering department of Scans Associates, Inc., Livonia, a test system manufacturer. He has been appointed senior project engineer as part of Scans' goal to widen its participation in the important aeronautical and aerospace industry worldwide.

Benitz is a graduate of Wayne State University. For 17 years he was with the George L. Nankerville Co., a manufacturer of test systems in the '50s and '60s, where he eventually became aerospace section head in the engineering department. Before coming to Scans, he spent 13 years as a program manager for another local test equipment manufacturer.

Benitz's specialty is the designing of aircraft engine and fuel component test equipment for ground support and overhaul bases. Such equipment is used by engine manufacturers and commercial airlines all over the world.
