

Chocolate, chocolate everywhere and lots of it to eat

By Mary Rodrigue

It's a candy and cake lovers' paradise. Redford's new Kitchen Gallery has the stuff sweet dreams are made of: all sizes and shapes, shelves stocked with raspberry, strawberry, maple and caramel filling, bags of coconut, and bottles of extract in flavors ranging from lemon to peppermint.

For co-owners Mary Panackia of Livonia and Mickie Vassel of Southfield, the enterprise represents more than a year of planning. No newcomers to the business scene, Panackia owned a Detroit lounge, the Walling Room, for nine years, and Vassel still operates the Old World Bakery in Southfield. "WE'VE BEEN FRIENDS for a lot of years," Panackia said. "We decided to take the plunge. This is the first time we've been in business together."

Vassel has more than a year of candy-making experience — she sells it as well as cake-making molds at her bakery. "I do chocolate-covered, peppermint, peanut butter, candy bars, birthday and novelty candies," she said. "It sells well."

Unlike the bakery, Kitchen Gallery won't sell the finished products — only the equipment for making the various confections.

For Panackia, cake decorating and candy making "is all new to me."

"We're maybe one-twentieth the scale of Kitchen Glamour," she said. "They're gourmet. We're aimed at the homemakers and bakers who might want to make their own special occasion cakes or candy."

They chose their site, a building on W. Six Mile at Five Points, with care, she said.

"WE THINK THIS is the type of area where our business will do well. We hope to draw customers from Redford, Livonia, Detroit, Farmington, Westland and Wayne," she said.

The 1,800-square-foot building constructed 17 years ago for a Lawsons Party Store also will house classes in beginning and intermediate cake decorating and demonstrations in candy making to be held for four consecutive Saturdays free of charge.

During the candy demonstrations, to be held at 10 a.m., Renee Burbanck will teach techniques in making truffles, cherry cordials, filled candies, Easter baskets, chocolate painting, molding sugar eggs, molded chocolate rabbits and other candies in two-hour sessions. Classes are scheduled Jan. 22, 29, Feb. 5 and 12.

Burbanck, who has been making her own candy for two years, said it's an easy hobby which children can participate in.

"It's really a lot cheaper, too, when you can make your own specialty candy, like Valentine hearts and Easter bunnies," she said.

Beginner's cake decorating will be taught by Betsy Frost and include the fundamentals of cake decorating: border designs, icing consistency, decorating with star tubes, floral spray, dividing cake tops and more. Six class sessions will cost $18, and both morning and evening classes are being offered.

INTERMEDIATE CAKE decorating will be taught by Diane Kalpio, a 14-year veteran of the business. She will guide students in intricate flower making, techniques in delicate lace, special occasion cake ideas, petal and drop icing flowers in butter cream and royal icing and assembly of a wedding cake.

The six sessions will cost $20, and both morning and evening classes will be offered.

Both the cake-decorating classes begin this week.

For the less artistic baker, perhaps just looking for something to spruce up a plain birthday cake, there's both edible sugar and inedible plastic decorations on a wide variety of themes: from Pac Man to sports figures to ballerinas to teddy bears and clowns.

There's also beginners guides to cake decorating, cake pans in special shapes and cookie cutters galore.

Store hours are 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, 9:30-5:30 Wednesday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Public TV benefit will aid children

The harsh realities of winter will fade for one night as WTVS/Channel 56 and the Committee for Children's Television of Metro Detroit present Ports-O-Call Ball at Hunters Square Tally Hall on Saturday, Jan. 29.

The Farmington Hills food bazaar will be transformed into a scene of international intrigue with exotic food, dancing, and entertainment offered to party-goers.

"Passports" good for special savings on food and merchandise offered by Tally Hall vendors will be part of the event. Celebrants are encouraged to dress in costumes appropriate to the international flavor of the evening, set to begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets for the Ports-O-Call Ball are priced at $30 per person with proceeds going to WTVS/Channel 56 and the Committee for Children's Television. Ticket information is available from Channel 56 at 873-7200.

"The theme of this benefit blends in perfectly with the international atmosphere of Tally Hall," says Hunters Square Tally Hall spokeswoman Joanne Smith. "We're most happy to serve as the host of what promises to be a splendid event." Elaine Saum, director of the Committee for Children's Television, feels the Ports-O-Call Ball "will not only do a great deal of good by helping in the quest for better children's programming but will also be a wonderful evening." WTVS Vice-President/Development Agnes Scott is "delighted to see firms like Hunters Square Tally Hall supporting public television and children's programming."

The Committee for Children's Television, based in Birmingham, is part of a national organization working to improve television programming for children.

County seniors invited to UMD

High school seniors in Oakland County are invited to the University of Michigan-Dearborn Friday, Jan. 21, for a "university preview."

Concerns such as overcoming hassles in paying for their education and adjusting to college life will be discussed during the free program.

Starting at 1 p.m. in the University Mall, the program will offer the students three half-hour sessions on topics that deal with financial aid, women in the sciences, preprofessional planning, careers in the 80s, and co-op opportunities. UMD students and faculty will be involved in the three sessions, campus tour, and concluding general group session.

A growing number of students — approximately 700 of UMD's 8,400 students — commute to the Dearborn campus from Oakland County. The campus is on Evergreen between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue. For more information, call the admissions office, 595-5107.

WHY DO I FEEL SO STIFF IN THE MORNING?

Almost everyone with arthritis is familiar with the problem of trying to move on arising in the morning. Why does this stiffness occur and what can be done about it?

Normally sleep is filled with body movement, this motion during rest makes it possible to awake with the joints limber. Such movement does not occur if you have arthritis. Since involved joints cannot undertake the day's activities in an efficient manner, muscles and ligaments are called upon to put forth an extra effort. As a result, these tissues need prolonged rest at night.

On awakening you are unable to move because your muscles, being inactive for so long a period, are not in a state of readiness.

What can be done? The use of heat in the form of a hot shower is often successful. If stiffness is chronic or prolonged, then a rheumatologist can offer useful advice. He may suggest other physical therapy and a schedule for taking your medication that will limit your morning immobility and reduce your period of discomfort.

Dr. Weiss invites questions from readers, please address your inquiries to his office.
