Catholic Central honors deceased student

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

Anton Marks attended Catholic Central High School for only two years, but in that short time he made an enduring impression.
Marks, who would have graduated this spring, is remembered by family, classmates and faculty as an outgoing, intelligent, active young man with a bright smile who endeared himself to everyone who knew him. He died in June 1981 of heart disease at the age of 18.
Marks will be remembered in a special way this year. His parents, Canton Township residents Jack and Nadia Marks, have established a one-time only, $1,000 scholarship in his memory. The Anton Marks Memorial Scholarship will be given to the 1983 graduating senior who best demonstrates scholastic ability and financial need for college.

"It's what we know our boy would have liked us to have done," Nadia Marks said. "We feel as though we could give it to someone else to pass on a memory of him."

"IT'S FOR someone who is needy and still working very hard to try and keep good grades. It's to encourage kids to study, that's the real reason."
The special scholarship is the second established by the Marks family in memory of their only child. The first award, the Anton Marks Scholarship Fund, worth $500, is given every fall to a needy student.

School officials will look at seniors' financial need forms, filled out for college, and their grade point averages to determine who will receive the $1,000 scholarship, according to the Rev. John Whitley, Catholic Central assistant principal.

A plaque will be awarded to the scholarship winner. The plaque, a larger version of which will hang in the school, describes Anton as a "deeply loved friend, and a living incarnation of the Christian spirit," who "lived what he believed," Whitley said.

Born with a congenital heart defect, Anton used a motorized scooter to get to and from classes. Nevertheless, he maintained a "tremendous" smile and friendly personality, Whitley said.

The assistant principal recalled that students would carry Anton up and down stairs between periods, and said they turned out in force for Anton's funeral, even though it took place in the summer. The flag in front of Catholic Central flew at half-staff when the new semester started that year.

Las Vegas nite planned at Birmingham Temple

When Birmingham Temple members open their doors at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 26, for their annual Las Vegas night fund-raiser, they'll be met by a group of gamblers with skills honed in the real Las Vegas.

For the past three years, volunteers have developed a list of local businesses who donate everything from TVs and radios to weekend vacations and dinners at restaurants.

A host of Las Vegas-type gambling games will be available for play. A cash bar and food service will be available. Gambling chips are supplied with the $5 admission.

A special training session for volunteer croupiers will be held 8:30 p.m. at the Temple March 17 and March 24. Persons are welcome to observe.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the temple office at 477-1410.
