Camp enrollment begins for children with asthma

Now is time to start planning for summer camp, says the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM), especially for the child with asthma.

The association is now accepting applications for its free summer camp for children with asthma, Camp Sun Deer, from Sunday, June 26, to Saturday, July 2, in Battle Creek Outdoor Education Center on Clear Lake near Dowling. The deadline for applications, which must be completed by the child's parents and physician, is Monday, May 16.

Eighty-five asthmatic children, ages 9-12, who are Michigan residents are offered a week of boating, swimming, archery, nature hikes, arts and crafts. Camp Sun Deer provides all of the activities of a regular camp with the additional medical support necessary to treat asthma.

Asthmatic children will also learn about their lung disease, how to cope with it during exercise and how to make living with it a little easier.

"Summer camp is usually out of the question for children who are victims of asthma," said Dr. Bruce Rubin, medical director of the lung association's Family Asthma Program and a member of the board of directors. "Most camps do not have adequate medical personnel to handle the special complications often arising when an asthmatic engages in vigorous exercise or is exposed to a number of allergens."

In addition to campers, the American Lung Association is also seeking qualified medical volunteers to staff the week-long camp. Especially needed are respiratory therapists, nurses and pharmacists to serve as counselors. Other volunteers with special skills in arts and crafts, archery, lifesaving, sports, games and boating are also needed.

Camp Sun Deer is sponsored by the Michigan Society of Respiratory Therapy.

Campers and volunteers interested in applying to Camp Sun Deer may call Carol Vick at the association, 561-1687.
