

Loans will refurbish homes

Although the city has set a $7,500 limit on the low-interest loans, if a homeowner needs an extra $1,000 to complete repairs, there's little problem in arranging it, he said.

The money, however, must be used for needed repairs to make the house safe and to provide adequate shelter, Lampi said.

TO BE eligible for the low-interest loans, owners must be occupying the house and have incomes of up to:

- $15,250 for a one-person household;
- $17,400 for a two-person household;
- $19,550 for a three-person household;
- $21,750 for a four-person household.

Higher income levels also are eligible for more-than-four-person households, Lampi said.

The city's goal is to make the loan program self-sufficient by accumulating interest on the program's invested money and using it to offer more loans, Lampi said.

BECAUSE THE CDBG program is targeted heavily toward low- and moderate-income families and neighborhoods, the suggested capital improvements will be in the southeast section of the city, which contains some of the oldest houses and greatest concentration of low-to-moderate income families, Lampi said.

The program specifically will address an area bounded by Eight and Nine Mile roads and Makler and Middlebelt. Farmington Hills officials will hold an informational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Vladimir, 28125 Grand River, to discuss the proposed projects.

"Medical aid states they cannot assume Brian's care for 30 days, after his residence is established again. How do we, his parents, provide for these first 30 days?"

EVEN THOUGH the continuous trips are costly, the Rouses make them willingly. Rouse's friends from Farmington High School are trying to help the family out by sponsoring a fund-raiser at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, March 26, at the Farmington Lanes on Grand River. The use of the lanes were donated by owner Fred Hamlin.

The money that's raised by the $15 donation will help defray the cost of transporting Rouse by Air Ambulance back to Michigan, which Ed estimates costs around $10,000.

Rouse will be released from Kaiser Canyon Memorial Hospital in Anaheim Hills, Calif., in two months. If the Rouses don't find a way to move him to Michigan, he will be admitted to a nursing home in California, which is a participant in his insurance plan.

"But we all have jobs, and it isn't that easy to get off of work to visit," the senior Rouse said. Jean is presently on one of six visits she's made to California since Rouse was admitted to the hospital.

The Rouses have written letters to President Reagan, legislators in California and Michigan, and hundreds of newspapers across the country.
