Refurbishing at the center

The spring cleaning that is going on now in Farmington Community Center will culminate with newly painted and papered walls, some reupholstered furniture and new drapes for the living room. Sandy Donlon (kneeling) and Arnette Whitehouse, who are spackling some walls, are members of Farmington Hills Junior Women's Club, which is furnishing all the labor. Money for the refurbishing has come from proceeds of the board game, "Opportunity Farmington," promoted by the club to raise money for several area agencies and causes.

VFW honors a dedicated worker

Irene Rodebaugh, whose term as grand president of the Military Order of Cooties will expire this spring, will be honored Saturday by Farmington Hills Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) at a testimonial dinner in the post home.

Rodebaugh is known as a dedicated worker by fellow post members and its auxiliary. She has spent an estimated 2,000 hours criss-crossing both the state and the nation looking after the concerns of veterans in hospitals and nursing homes.

SHE JOINED the VFW Ladies Auxiliary in 1965 in Farmington Hills post home 4033, which is now merged with Brodhead VFW and known as VFW 2269. She has held all offices in the local auxiliary and proceeded through the chairs at the state level to her present position.

The local VFW expects about 200 persons will honor Rodebaugh at the testimonial dinner.

The VFW state convention, at which Rodebaugh will retire her presidency, is set for June 6 in Southfield.

Plant sale under way

Hill and Dale Garden Club has launched its 11th annual Garden Plant Sale with the distribution of order blanks to former customers. "Those who did not get an order blank can have one mailed on request by calling Beth Callow, 471-3879," said Justine Noetzel speaking for the membership.

Deadline for ordering flats, half-flats, trays or hanging baskets is April 29. Customers have a choice of 20 varieties that come in a wide range of color.

Pick up day is Thursday, May 19, on the lawn of Marge Gordon's home, 23555 Newell Circle-West.

All profits from the sale are used by Hill and Dale to support the garden therapy work done in special education classrooms.
