

Openmindedness is outstanding trait

Dear Mrs. Green:

I am 17 years old, female and right-handed. I have always written with a left-handed slant, but I always seem to change my S's. My first and last name start with S's, but I always seem to change back and forth. Why does this happen? Am I insecure?

S.S. Livonia

Dear S.S.:

Changes in the signature are not uncommon for a young person. Often we work on our signature, either consciously or unconsciously, until we feel comfortable with it. It is the image we wish to portray to others and is not necessarily a true picture of the person's personality. This is a reason a competent graphologist will not attempt an analysis on the basis of a signature alone.

Is there something about Livonia that you dislike? Since it is the only proper noun you do not capitalize, I am curious.

Possibly the most outstanding trait I see in your handwriting is your openmindedness. You are tolerant and change my S's.

last name start
I always seem to respectful of other people's views and opinions. A philosophy of "live and let live" comes quickly to mind as I review your handwriting.

Outwardly you appear poised. In the various of the younger generation, "cool cat" would aptly describe your behavior. Innermost feelings are not revealed in your body language. Also you dislike being rushed. In fact you can be quite deliberate at times.

The female influence in your life has been rather strong. Now you would like to be independent and stand on your own two feet. You are ambitious for recognition and seek to be outstanding. However, you do not seem to set goals or plan accordingly. Possibly someone else has been doing this for you as there appears to be some unconsciousness or lack of confidence here. Much of your concern is with self and your daily activities.

Spring is the time of new growth, and you are like a bud eager to develop into the beautiful flower that is within you.

Some of my readers would like to hear from people who have had their handwriting analyzed through this column. If you are willing to supply me with feedback from your analysis for use in the column, please enclose a self-addressed envelope with your letter and I will contact you. Send your letter to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Please use a full sheet of white unlined paper writing in the first person singular. Age and handedness are also helpful.
