lepatitis testing planned at Cloverdale

dents of the Cloverdale Developmental Center and the Farmington Training

The testing, which begins soon, is in response to the fear and anger expressed by parents and staffers at the two institutions after Elaine Dohr, a teacher's aide at Cloverdale, died May 9 of hepatitis B.

Members of Dohr's family and some Cloverdale staffers have said that they believe she was infected when a student spat in her face shortly after she had oral surgery.

"This (blood testing) linit something which will change the situation in terms of hepatitist," said Graham Lewist, Farmington's assistant superinted, and the student on the student of the student of Lewis said. "People want to know who are the carriers of the disease. They'll also find out who has antibodies to the disease and are therefore natu-rally immune."

Festival bash kicks off annual founders days

Founders Festival time is just around the corner. Clowns, mimes, free balloons, musical entertainment, a fashion show and 30 different menuiterns will be featured at the Farmington Family Funfeast 5-9 p.m. on Tuesday, June 14, at the corner of 14 Mille and Middlebelt in Farmington Hills.

The vent is being sponsored by Designer Depot to aid in raising funds for the Farmington/Farmington Hills Founders Festival. Designer Depot, a retail outlet, will open on Thursday, June 16.

Funfeast entertainment will include a continuous stage show featuring the Oakway Symphony Band, the Farmington Hills Community Chorus and a fashion show of designer apparel for the family. A free drawing will be held every hour for ensembles from Designer Depot.

Emcee for the event will be CKLW radio's Tom Ryan. Admission is free.

"Designer Depot has more than answered our call for assistance," said festival committee chairman Rob Falls in response to announcement of the benefit.
