House tells Reagan: Spend energy funds

"Here's how area U.S. representatives members were recorded on major roll skill votes immediately before the Memorial Day recess. There were no Sengia votes.

"Each vote was a test of wills between the House and President Reagan gyr the president's desire to defer, until fiscal 1984 or later, the expenditive of money Congress wants spent in 1983.

Under the 1974 Impoundment Control Act, a president can delay spending for specific programs unless either the House or Senate overrides him. In each case below, Congress won, and the money now must be spent.

- The votes occurred as members ribaded to catch planes out of town, either to return home on begin an overgess junket.

- Acton member observed the hurried atmosphere and complained about the yay the House often disposes of important legislation.

- People come in here and they do not know what they are voting on, and a lot of things get through this place without much consideration whatsoever," field, and William Broomfield, R-Birchided Rep. Dan Lungren, R-Calif.

There was no rebuttal ROUSE R & D - The House voted, 265 for

HOUSE

CONSERVE — By a vote of 280 for and 170 against, the House directed the president to speed $4.5 million on two programs administered by the Department of Energy. All area congressmen voted with the majority.

Both programs use federal outlays to encourage development by the private sector of energy-conservation devices and technologies.

Supporter Raiph Regula, R-Ohio, said, "$4.5 million is not a lot when you talk about the potential benefits or energy conservation."

Opponent Robert Walker, R-Pa., said, "Here is a chance to say whether you are for deficits or against them."

Members voting yes favored spending the $4.5 million in liscal 1883.

Voting yes: Carl Purell, R-Plymouth, Denals Hertel, D-Detroit, William

R & D — The House voted, 285 for and 121 against, to override President Reagan's deferral of $8.75 million earmarked for programs to tap fossil fuels as marketable energy sources.

The president said the money is unneeded in fiscal 1983 because of program backloss.

gram backlogs.
Supporters said its immediate re-lease will quicken the development of peat and coal gasification and other fossil technologies.

Supporter Sidney Yates, D-III., said the programs are achieving "greater efficiency in the utilization of the nation's most significant energy resource (coal)."

Opponent Dan Lungren, R-Calif., asked: "When are we going to stop compilating that the administration is spending too much money" and then vote against the president's deferrals? "We cannot have it both ways," he added. Members voting yes wanted the $8.75 million spent in fiscal 1983. Voting yes: Hertel, Ford, Levis and Broomfield. Voting no: Pursell.

ISLANDS — By a vote of 255 for and 115 against, the House directed the president to spend 83.8 million for a new hopsital in the Northwestern Mariana Islands, a U.S. territory near Guam in the western Pacific.

The figure is part of a $10 million fiscal 1983 appropriation for building the first section of the hospital.

Supporter Sidney Yates, D-III., said

deferring the $3.19 million would delay the project and raise its eventual cost by $300,000. Opponent William Dannemeyer, R-Callf., said he agreed with President Reagan that, thanks to lower inflation, the $3.19 million is unneeded in fiscal 1983.

Members voting yes wanted to over-ride the president's deferral of the hos-pital outlay. Voting yes: Hertel, Ford, Levin and Broomileid.
