

At OU this summer

Computers, aeronautics, western art

Oakland University is offering a variety of courses this summer at schools in the suburbs as well as specialized camps targeted at popular subjects.

Computer camps for beginning students will be held Monday-Friday, July 25-29, for student in grades eight through 10 and again Aug. 1-5 for student in grades five through seven.

Three more advanced camps will be held throughout the summer for youngsters with previous programming experience. Information about the camps can be obtained by calling Wanda Mourant, Department of Mathematical Science, at 377-3447.

Students at the two beginning level camps will learn to write computer programs in Applesoft, a version of the BASIC program language. Each student will design and write his or her own project.

BEGINNING Tuesday, June 28, the extension program at the university will offer 14 evening courses at Groves High School in Birmingham. The courses include accounting, economics, business and technical writing, systems analysis, marketing, political science and finance. For specifics call 377-4010.

The second annual Teachers' Aerospace Workshop entitled, "The Sky as Your Classroom," will be held at Oakland University June 28-July 23.

The program is designed for grade school teachers who want to bring the subject of flight alive for their students. The faculty are OU and National Aeronautics and Space Administration personnel. The workshop includes a visit to the NASA Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, tips on the acquisition of aerospace films and other materials from government and private sources, principals of rocketry and building of model rockets and planes. The program is designed for teachers who have little or no experience in space education. Participants will work for a week with children in grades five through seven attending an OU aerospace workshop for young people from July 18-22. Registration is on a first come, first served basis up to 50 participants. For details call 377-3079.

Beginning Wednesday, June 29, OU will offer courses on western art on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30-10 p.m. The instructor is Louisa Nogue at Pontiac Art Center, 47 Williams Street. Call 377-4010 for particulars.

Beginning Saturday, July 9, OU will offer field botany courses at Brookside Elementary School, 308 Loos Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. This is a local flora course in identifying vascular plants in Michigan. Emphasis is on flowering plants, although ferns and coniferous species are also treated. Call 377-4010 for details.

Graduates of the legal assistant program offered by the Division of Continuing Education at OU are available for interviews by prospective employers, at no charge, through a job referral service. The service can be used by private law firms, businesses, corporations, public utility companies, courts and governmental agencies. Job placement is not guaranteed to the student. Interested employers should contact the program director Priscilla Hill-dum at 377-3120 for details.

3 in running for vacancy on Federal Court

Federal Bankruptcy Judge George E. Woods, Oakland County Circuit Judge Hilda R. Gage, and Brighton attorney Michael K. Hegarty were recommended to fill a vacancy on the Detroit federal bench, Congressman William Broomfield announced.

Broomfield, a senior Michigan Republican in Washington, made the recommendations to the Justice Department on behalf of the Michigan Congressional Delegation and the State Republican Party.

Following its own evaluation, one of the three will be nominated by the Reagan administration to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Patricia Boyle from the Detroit Federal Court.

The recommendations are the result of a two-month evaluation by the Congressional delegation, Michigan Republican chairman Spencer Abraham and a judicial review board specially appointed for this purpose.

Woods, 59, is a former assistant U.S. Attorney in Detroit. He was appointed to the bankruptcy court in 1981.

Gage, was elected to the Oakland County Circuit Court in 1976.

Hegarty, 49, is a former president of the Livingston County Bar Association. He was a Republican candidate for the Michigan Supreme Court in 1980.

STATE CHAIRMAN Abraham met with the Congressional delegation in Washington two months ago following the resignation of Boyle and it was agreed to narrow a field of nearly 40 applicants to 10.

They also agreed to appoint the review board composed of representatives of most of Michigan's legal organizations and associations, former state jurists, and other top members of the bar.

The 10 finalists were subjected to an intensive investigation by the review board culminating in personal interviews last weekend in Detroit.

Based on the board's findings as to legal qualifications and on the congressional delegations' and state party's evaluations, the field was reduced to the three finalists.

"I am confident that any one of the three candidates we are recommending will serve the people of Michigan with distinction and bring great credit to the federal bench and to the administration," Broomfield said.

Woods is from Rochester; Gage is from Bloomfield Hills.

Singer joins staff of county executive

Former Observer and Eccentric reporter Suzie Rollins Singer has joined the staff of Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy as director of public information.

Singer, 38, of Southfield was a reporter for the O&E for the past five years. She covered politics in Wayne and Oakland counties as well state and local campaigns. Prior to joining the county beat two years ago, Singer was a police and city hall reporter for the Troy Eccentric for three years.

"Suzie's background is ideal for this job, because not only is she a well-respected journalist, but her vast knowledge of politics gives her a complete working knowledge of state and county government," Murphy said.

Her responsibilities as director of public information include answering public inquiries, disseminating information to the news media and speech writing.

Singer earned a bachelor of arts degree in communications from Michigan State University in 1977.

She succeeds Michael Niemann, who transferred to the county's Community Development Division.

Michigan National Corporation Banks Reach Record Highs

The Michigan National Corporation banks have reached record highs at April 30, 1983 in terms of assets, deposits, and loans. Depositor Protection Accounts for that period also reached an all time high at $478 million which is 7.1% of total assets. This is an increase of $10.9 million since year end 1982. Depositor Protection Accounts are made up of the sum of equity, debt capital, and reserves which are all subordinate to depositors' claims.

During its 10 year history Michigan National Corporation has grown into one of Michigan's major statewide banking groups with 363 approved banking offices serving 2.6 million customers, and has built one of the USA's largest automated teller machine (ATM) networks with over 700 ATM's statewide.
