

Cranbrook exhibits open

Five new exhibits are on display at the Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum through Sept. 18. The student summer show presents a diversity of work in various disciplines. Artists-in-residence will have works on view in the South Gallery, and Carl Miles will offer a display of his sculptures from the permanent collection.

The lower galleries will show recent acquisitions and exhibits called "Cranbrook Deco" and "Design in America: The Cranbrook Vision 1925-50." The work above is a circa 1932 wool and linen rug by Loja Saarinen.
