Services held for Hrant Aginian, 66

Hrant Aginian, 66, of Royal Oak died Sunday, Sept. 11. A self-employed shoe repairman who owned businesses in Detroit and Warren, Mr. Aginian was born in Istanbul, Turkey. His family fled to the United States in 1923 to escape the persecution of Armenians in Turkey. He was the father of Richard Aginian, president of Suburban Communications Corp., the parent company of Observer & Eccentric

Newspapers. Mr. Aginian operated Hoffman Valet in Detroit for 30 years and later owned Paul's Shoe Repair in Warren. Although he grew up an American, his emotional ties to the Armenians in Turkey remained. He joined the Armenian Pan-Sepastia Rehabilitation Union — an organization designed to keep old friendships and customs going in America and to provide support for Armenians still in Turkey. "My father was a good provider who believed in a strong family," Richard Aginian said this week. "He took an active role in his family."

He was also associated with the Boy Scouts of America for 16 years and was active in Troop No. 1625 at Franklin School in Royal Oak. He was also active at St. John's Armenian Church in Southfield. Survivors include his wife, Virginia; three sons, Richard, Michael and Robert; a sister, Anne Aginian; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were Wednesday at St. John's Armenian Church. Interment is in Woodlawn Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to St. John's church, 22001 Northwestern, Southfield, and/or to the Henry Ford Hospital Neurological Surgery Research Fund.
