

Gaining financial independence is the name of his game

Joe Naporski, who heads adult education classes called "Money Mystique," is back this fall with three classes set to begin in Southfield-Lathrup, Athens and Lahser high schools.

"The whole idea is to keep the money in your own pocket and not give it away as fast as you get it. Gaining financial independence is the name of this game," Naporski said.

"Money Mystique" is a two-hour class that begins at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 28, in Athens High School, Troy; Thursday, Sept. 29, in Lahser High School, Bloomfield Hills; and Monday, Oct. 3, in Southfield-Lathrup High School.

The Certified Financial Planner describes his class as aimed to "help people in the midst of taxation, inflation, real estate tripping, estates getting larger and Uncle Sam standing there with his hand out."

His area of expertise is in properly analyzing needs and investigating the development and maintenance of financial plans, whether for companies or individuals.

In his classes, Naporski says he zeros in on stock market timing, interest rate fluctuations, tax-sheltered investments, and tax avoidance altogether if that's possible.

Other subjects covered in "Money Mystique" are IRAs, the examination of participants' life insurance, the use of living trusts and estate planning.

Registrations for the class in Athens High School are taken by calling 879-0101.

Those wishing to register for the class in Lahser High School are to call 334-3578; and for Southfield-Lathrup High School, 354-7456.
