

"G-Men" (1935), 1 p.m. Friday on Ch. 50. Originally 85 minutes.
 James Cagney made his name in gangster films of the early 1930s. But by the mid-'30s the gangster genre was going out of style — thanks largely to the suffocating Hays Office, whose censorship practices forced movie producers to turn away from controversial plots and loquacious character types. Fittingly, in "G-Men" Cagney plays a character who turns away from gangsterism and subsequently helps clean up the underworld. Lloyd Nolan, Robert Armstrong and Ann Dvorak co-star.
 Rating: $3.10.

"Night of the Following Day" (1969), 2:30 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 9. Originally 93 minutes.
 Marlon Brando, Richard Boone, Rita Moreno and Pamela Franklin star in this unusual film with an even more extraordinary plot twist at the end. Brando and especially "The Searchers" (1956), 9 a.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 119 minutes.

Without question, here's the best of John Wayne's films. Duke, six years removed from John Ford's cavalry trilogy — "Fort Apache" (1948), "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" (1949) and "Rio Grande" (1950) — teams with Ford once more, but this time in a role that's the antithesis of Wayne's estimable cavalry hero of the earlier films. quent musical score captures both the folk sounds of the American West and the haunting incongruities of Wayne's character. Jeffrey Hunter, Vera Miles, Ward Bond, Natalie Wood and a host of Ford regulars, including Harry Carey Jr., co-star.
 Rating: $3.90.
"The Day the Earth Stood Still" (1951), 11:45 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 82 minutes.

a popular notion then. Have our ideals changed since? Patricia Neal and Sam Jaffe co-star. And Klaatu barada nikto to you, too.
 Rating: $3.05.
"Paper Lion" (1968), 8 p.m. Monday on Ch. 50. Originally 107 minutes.
 Alex Karras, Joe Schmidt, Roger Brown, John Gordy — those old Lions and their teammates from '60s Detroit football teams never faded much better than today's squad, but for some reason we view those days more fondly than the present. That's nostalgia for you. Alan Alda stars in this adaptation of the George Plimpton book. Look for Roy Scheider in a bit part.
 Rating: $2.70.
