The second Western Lakes Athletic Association championship and a whole lot of pride is on the line in this week-end's grid matchups.

But, man, there could have been so much more.

If Plymouth Salem hadn't blown a 10-point lead in the final five minutes against Walled Lake Central last Friday. And if Farmington Harrison hadn't slipped against Livonia Churchill last Saturday.

If the referee would have called Central's fourth-and-18 pass incomplete (like the films seemed to indicate) in the fourth quarter, Salem would have had the ball with the lead and just two minutes to play.

If Bob Wascenasi's 75-yard touchdown reception from Scott Glimski wouldn't have been nullified by a penalty, or if the Hawks would have converted their extra point, or if John Stoklasa wasn't so darn good.

If SALEM AND Harrison were meeting this weekend there would be

John Herrington thinks his Hawks will bounce back from last week's loss to Churchill. The Western Lakes Athletic Association title is on the line Friday night at Walled Lake Central.

Carol Klitz, a senior guard, led Borgess (1-13) with eight.

LADYWOOD 72, BISHOP GALLAGHER 57: The Bismarck (12-3) stayed a game behind Mercy in the Division chase with a strong team defensive effort, according to coach Ed Kavanaugh.

"I thought we came back strong," said Kavanaugh, whose team lost a heartbreaker last week to Mercy. Juniors Char Gowan and Emily Wagner, who sparked a 27-13 Ladywood third quarter spurt, finished with 25 and 22 points, respectively.

Julie Dunne paced Gallagher with 13.
