

Passes bar at 22

Kiki Shatzman, who grew up in Farmington Hills, has just passed the Michigan State Bar and at age 22 is believed to be the youngest attorney in the state.

Her expertise is in corporate, business and estate planning, in practice with Aycock and Associates in Lincoln Park.

Shatzman attended Middlebelt Elementary, East Middle School, and graduated from Harrison High School in 1978 where she was on the acrobatics team for several years.

She graduated cum laude from Indiana University School of Law in 1983, winning the Wall Street Journal Award and the West Publishing Award, given for excellence in law.

She is now attending night classes at Wayne University to earn her masters degree in law.

Music Boxes

Remembrance of a favorite toy

The charming, sentimental and romantic gift-giver will find the largest assortment of fascinating music boxes in the Midwest, some of them one of a kind, at December's Special Place this season.

With more than 400 styles in her two gift stores, Therese December includes toys, porcelain figurines, inlaid boxes, butterflies, collectors' showcases, modern lucite sculptures, jewelry boxes, animated dolls, key chains, coin-operated, stuffed animals, even a decorative metal dust pan that plays, "Whistle While You Work," in the array.

The Farmington resident attributes a resurgence in interest in music boxes to adults who remember favorite toys, to a return to a romantic way of marking special occasions, and to a recognition that the production of music boxes is a slowly dying art.

"Many of these music boxes are heirlooms of the future," she said.

DECEMBER HAS an extensive knowledge of music boxes, having visited museums in this country and Europe, and meeting with manufacturers and craftsmen.

"Most of the work should still be considered as a cottage industry," she said. Favorite tunes, college songs, film themes, ballads, and classics such as Tchaikovsky and Beethoven have been artfully transposed into the distinctive music box sound.

A box that is growing in popularity is of a gramophone style with turntable, arm and a selection of discs. Another has the more customary cylinder works with five interchangeable rolls.

Most boxes are priced under $50. However, they range from $6.95 for a stocking stuffer or gift wrap item to $3,000 for the box inlaid with 25 different woods containing a 12 inch world-numbered cylinder with 144 different notes and sounds which plays three Mozart selections: "Enchanted Flute," "Little Night Music," and "Turkish March."

Although during the year, December is able to customize a song to a particular style, the height of the Christmas season is not the best time to make such a request, she said.

In Lincoln Park, December's Special Place is located at 3917 Fort, west of Southfield, 381-2112; in Southgate, 14165 Eureka between Trenton and Dix, 283-8790. Holiday hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday; noon to 5 p.m. Sundays.

She provides free scented tissue wrap, gift boxes, wrapping and enclosure cards.

Chosen to attend Lucia

Sue Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Ivar Anderson of Farmington Hills, has been chosen to be an attendant of Lucia when the Jenny Lind Club of Detroit stages its annual Lucia dinner dance.

The event, which follows the ancient Swedish tradition of ceremony surrounding St. Lucia, will be carried out Friday, Dec. 2, in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Tyra Tette, a Grosse Pointe resident, has been chosen to re-enact Lucia in the ceremony with six attendants. Teen-age girls who compete for the honor of being chosen must be of Swedish descent.

Immediately after the dinner, the room is darkened as a signal for Lucia, wearing a long white gown and a crown of seven lighted candles, to lead her procession of attendants into the room for the ceremony.

There is a deep religious significance to the Lucia Festival, celebrated for centuries in Sweden on Dec. 13 marking the beginning of the Christmas season.

Lucia lived in Italy and died there as a Christian martyr. Tales of her good works were brought to Sweden by the Vikings, and the Swedes made her their Queen of Light.
