

Second runs Tom Panzenhagen

"Capricorn One" (1978), 2:30 to-night on Ch. 4. Originally 124 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes on Ch. 4 schedule.

How many movies have we seen lately that start with one good idea and then don't know how to go from there? "The Osterman Weekend," "National Lampoon's Vacation," "9 to 5" — previewed in this space recently — and a host of others come to mind. Now add "Capricorn One," which abuses the premise that the U.S. faked the first lunar landing, to the list. A fine cast, including Elliott Gould, Telly Savalas, James Brolin, Hal Holbrook and O.J. Simpson, enhance the promise of the first hour or so of the film, but you're better off tuning out after that and imagining your own conclusion.

Rating: R.
"Mister Roberts" (1955), 9 a.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 123 minutes. TV time slot: 150 minutes.

Director John Ford and star Henry Fonda, who had played "Mister Roberts" on Broadway for seven years, physically fought over changes that Ford introduced to the play during filming. Fonda, so distraught over Fonda's "interference" and the breakup of what had been a wonderful friendship, proceeded to drink himself sick. He

Forum presents 'Gwendoline'

"Gwendoline," a play by Canadian playwright James Nickel, will be presented by the New Playwrights Forum at 7 p.m. Monday at the Attie Theatre, 525 E. Lafayette at Beaubien in Detroit's Greektown.

Set in a small, Canadian town in 1907, "Gwendoline" is the tale of an unconventional, young woman whose eccentricity brings out both the kindness budding equestrienne in the first of these two family films. "National Velvet" also features Mickey Rooney overacting as a feckless jockey, and an excellent supporting cast headed by Donald Crisp, Anne Revere and Angela Lansbury.

Mickey's back 34 years and many more pounds later opposite Kelly Reno in "The Black Stallion," a film that's lovely to look at but very slowly paced.

Ratings: $3 and $2.75.
