DEC. 3, 1973 — THE FARMINGTON Area Advisory Council (FAAC) is beginning a drive to raise money for next year's operations, according to Joseph Damiani, director. Alming at a goal of between $10,000 and $15,000, FAAC is sending 10,000 elters to parents of public school students in Farmington and Farmington and Farmington Hills.

Hills.

FAAC, which uses local and county funds as well as contributions, operates a telephone hot line, provides some professional counseling and acts as an information clearing house for films and pamphlets on various social prob-

ABOUT HALF of the 930 controver-sial gas lights at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Hills are being extin-guished because of the energy crisis.

"THE SPORT of downhill aking in Michigan died a quiet death at 7:05 pm. on Sunday, Nov. 25, when President Nixon announced the closing of gas stations from 8 pm. Saturdays to michight Sundays," said Sill Cameron in a column called Sill Hell.

"How many akiers will venture north owneckends, knowing they can't return borno on one tank of gas?" Cameron akket. "We akiers may suffer mentally, but can you imagine the financial losses that the ski area owners will have to absorb?"
