

Farmington Schools Honor Young Writers

FARMINGTON
Wood Creek Elementary School hosted Farmington's first annual Young Authors Conference May 20.

It was the first major event held in the new elementary building at 28350 Danvers and is being sponsored by the district's reading specialists. Mrs. Margaret Williamson, author of "The First Book of Bugs" and others, talked about her craft. Dr. Robert Fichtenau, director of English for Oakland County schools, presented a Van Allen film designed to stimulate oral language.

Farmington reading specialist James Nuttall provided a short session of choral speaking.

The conference is an attempt to recognize literary ability and to encourage children to express their ideas in writing.

Reading specialist sponsors include Miss Kay Van Hov, chairman, James Nuttall, Mrs. Wade Brown, Mrs. Russell Ford, Mrs. Walter Gale, Mrs. Robert Kelman, Mrs. Irving Kernis, Mrs. Keith Mahalak, Miss Mary MacDonald, Mrs. Ann Rader, Mrs. Robert Winters, Miss Carolyn Marech. Selected to represent their schools are:

Gets Degree
FARMINGTON
Miss Jeanne Auger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Auger of 2863 Nine Mile Rd. in Farmington, is a candidate for a bachelor of fine arts degree in fashion design from Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. Stephens will award BA degrees to 115 seniors who make up its graduating class. The four-year program began in September 1964, when the first group of students enrolled for a third year in the program.
Pick-Your-Own
In most areas of Michigan, there is a high demand for pick-your-own strawberries and raspberries each year, say MSU horticulturists.
