NO RE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED HERE—SEE THAT YOUR NAME IS ON THE ROLL—THEN VOTE.

There seems to be some confusion in the minds of a number of voters as to the necessity of re-registering for the September primaries and November election. This confusion has been caused by the publicity given the matter of registration in Detroit and other cities of the state of over 10,000 population and by the error made by a few weekly papers in making the statement that an entire re-registration throughout the state is required.

A re-registration is required only in such municipalities having a population of 10,000 and over. In Farmington township and all other townships and cities of the state having a population below that figure, as shown by the last official census, no new registration is required this year. The board of registration will meet at the appointed time for the purpose of registering the names of all qualified voters, entitled to vote in the township or precinct, and make such changes in the register as have been caused by death or removal from the precinct.

There are many who are entitled to vote who have never applied for registration and there are many whose names appear on the register who seldom vote. Every citizen qualified to vote should see that his or her name is properly enrolled and when so registered they should vote.

It is a lamentable fact that a very large per cent of the non-voters are of that element of society who want good government, efficient officers and sound business policies in national, state, county and municipal administrations. That element among voters who have no interest in well ordered government and who in fact have no use for such a condition will be found 100 per cent registered and 100 per cent voting. No one knows this better than the politicians and office seekers. Only too often this element casts the deciding vote in our elections and then the good citizens who failed to vote wonder why laws are not enforced and why it costs the public $2.00 to purchase what the individual or corporation secures for $1.00.

WHERE GOOSEBERRIES BRING TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A QUART.

Gooseberries at farms along the stone roads are selling lively at 25 cents a quart. At farms a mile off the stone roads they can be bought for 10 cents a quart with few buyers. What is true of gooseberries is true in regard to all products of the farm. Yet the city dwellers get the principal benefit from modern roads. Its a fifty-fifty proposition with rural dwellers coming strong.

Electric light and power companies are furnishing service to approximately 2 1/2 per cent or 164,347 of the 6,500,000 farmers in the United States, according to report of Rural Electric Service Committee of the National Electric Light Association.

The job holder is the backbone of every political party. Jobs are the currency in which party debts are paid. This currency is at present inflated—we have too many job holders eating up tax funds.

Force of Gravity

The Naval Observatory says that the moon's tide-raising force, when the moon is in its zenith, is about one-thirtieth of the force of gravity. A ship weighing 45,000 tons would lose 70 pounds of its weight when the moon is overhead.

The Scrap Book

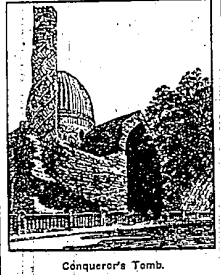

Took Newspaper When They Went on Strike

Striking pressmen of America may leave the metropolis without its usual morning and evening papers, but they have hardly achieved the feat of their brethren in Serbia. No resident of Belgrade, says the Living Age, can fail to know Novosti, the daily newspaper that serves an ample and spicy diet of sensation to the good bourgeois every weekday evening. But the staff, not only the mechanical force but the news writers as well, had a long-standing grievance. They did not like their quarters, which were old and unsanitary. The owner refused to provide better accommodations, and so the whole personnel of the paper migrated to a more attractive site and began to issue a paper in the same style, size, type and even numbering as the original Novosti. The only alteration was a concession to the law; they added Belgrade to the title.

Thus they have virtually stolen the paper from the owners, who are apparently unable to interfere and certainly are unable to continue the publication of the original journal without considerable delay, during which the strikers substitute bids for kidnapping the clientele and prestige of the parent journal.

Final Resting Place of Great Despoiler

Contempt Moderne

The son of one of Chaucer's Mr. Depew's warmest friends called for me one evening in great distress. "Mr. Depew," he said, "the other night I was calling on Mr. Blank's daughter and her father came in. Evidently he doesn't favor my suit, for he turned to her and told her it was time for her to retire, and then he had the impudence to tell me to go home, and now he is in a hurry to call again. Now, what would you call such conduct?" "Good gracious," exclaimed Senator Depew, "I'll call it contempt of court."

Puzzles Medical World

Gustave Brusch, a Dane, has perplexed medical authorities by his habit of undergoing change of color. Recently he has changed color three times. Two or three years ago, after an attack of fever in western Africa, his skin changed to an unnatural white. At the present time it has become a rich plum black and he has not taken of any medicine. Dr. Brusch, "I'll call it contempt of court."

Eye for Business

A man's moral expenditure to "make capital" out of his son's wedding was narrated in a London police court which a Pole was charged with bigamy. It was said that he attended his son's wedding dressed in a silk hat and fashionable clothes. Before the ceremony was over, he hurried home, changed into rags, and returning to the synagogue, begged from the guests as they left.

New Canal Records

The activity of the Panama canal is increasing all the time and new records of traffic handled are being made every few weeks. The oil shipments from California to Panama, a plateau of nearly constantly, and in big bounds. In nine years of the canal's operation the number of vessels passing through it was 20,474, representing a total of $125,471 tons.

Friends Together

We have been friends together. In sunshine and in shade: Since first beneath the chestnut trees in Lincoln we played. But coldness dwells within thy heart A cloud is on thy brow: We have been friends together— Shall a light word part us now?

We have been gay together: We have laughed at little jests: For the faintest hope was rubbing Warm and joyous in our breasts. But laughter now hath died thy lip. And sudden glooms thy brow: We have been gay together— Shall a light word part us now?

We have been sad together— We have wept with bitter tears: For the great-grown graves where slumbered The ones of early years. The voices which were silent there Would bid thee clear thy brow: We have been sad together— O, what shall part us now?

—Caroline Elizabeth Sarah Norton.

Odd Names Wished on Children by Parents

Hereabouts folks are filled more by the odd names of A. B. See, the man, than by the names of the children. A woman franchise is a mistake, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Such names do not often come by accident. They are wished upon offspring by curious-minded parents. Recently there died in Philadelphia a distinguished citizen of this city, Sussex Delaware Davis. He and his brother, Kent Delaware Davis, were sons of a Delawarean who was proud of his name and found a peculiar way to preserve in his own family the names of two Delaware counties. But in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, lives a man whose daddy named him Declaration Independence.

Not so far away is another, Lehigh Valley, but it is always written L. V., as the other sign only his initials D. I. Ocean Wave Good was the name of a widely known miller in Locomotion county.

The Two Lights

A stock market wizard said at a dinner in New York: "Oil stocks go down, steel stocks go up. There are two lights, a good one and a bad one, by which to look at every situation. "Good glass woman," said a philanthropic optimist. "She is like the ivy on the ruined wall. The more dilapidated you become, the more she clings to you. "Yes, God bless her," granted a misanthropic pessimist. "The more she clings to you, the more dilapidated you become."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Unknown Land

Christian Leland, who has made many trips to the Arctic regions, has prepared to start from Christiansia, Norway, to hunt for two island Eskimo tribes in northern Canada. Though warned that no white man ever returned from the region alone Leland feels sure of success. He will take part way a group of scientists to map out the uncharted land. Some Eskimos have told him that the land is rich in minerals and oil.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Birds Carry Diseases

In Washington, where the hoof-and-mouth disease has been detected among live stock, scientists are of the impression that birds are carrying the disease from section to section. All other avenues of infection have been cut off, the veterinarians say, and they have now assumed that birds coming from other states where this disease has been epidemic carry it in their intestines. Tracts from grain they have picked up.

Human Clock

Known as "the human timepiece," because he was so punctual in going to work that people set their clocks by him, John W. Farfan, a platelayer of Lincoln, England, has just retired. Once when there was an argument as to whether he or the church clock was wrong, the clock was found to be at fault.

Disciplined by Their New Schoolmaster

By J. B. AYRES
(© 1914, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE farmer looked at the slim, spectacled young man in front of him and gave a contemptuous grunt. "So you're the new schoolmaster of Four Corners?" he said. "Yes, I guess I can board you. I boarded the last three schoolmasters. My terms is twenty dollars a month, payable in advance."

"Why in advance?" inquired Mr. Pendleton quietly. "Because you won't last a month," answered Silas Prettyman. "None of 'em does." In spite of his anticipations, Mr. Pendleton's heart sank as he took his place at the desk. The school consisted of boys and girls of all ages, from Jim Smith, a husky youth of some twenty years, who was still showing over the mysteries of long division, and Miss Susie Connor, a farmer's daughter, who attended principally to be a sort of matron to the little ones, down to the staid little ones of seven and eight years.

It was after school on that day that Smith came insolently up to Pendleton. "Say, you're the one-lunger, ain't you?" he asked. "I don't want to be hard on a fellow who's only got one lung. So I'm going to make things easy for you, if you act right. Understand?" Before Pendleton had recovered from his surprise, Smith had stooped away, leaving the young man gasping at his pupil's audacity. "No corporal punishment," was the slogan in Four Corners, which prided for the purpose of REVUEING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP as—

Occupation of Socrates

Socrates followed at first the craft of his father, a sculptor. Later, however, his time was spent in the marketplace, catechizing all who would listen. He served as a soldier, and finally became a member of the senate.
