

2 Get Degrees At Wittenberg

Two Wittenberg University seniors from Farmington and Livonia will be candidates for degrees at the commencement exercises June 14 at the Springfield, Ohio, school.

They are Carol L. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Jones, 28311 Quail Hollow Rd., Farmington, bachelor of music education, and Susan J. Sladek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Sladek, formerly of Livonia, now of Ypsilanti, bachelor of arts.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE -- German educator Guenther Sielter learns about innovative techniques used at Oakland Community College (OCC) as one stop on a fast finding tour in this country. Sielter (second from right) listens as OCC Orchard Ridge campus German language instructor Josef Wiehr (right) points out some details. With them are Mrs. Lila R. Johnson, an OCC trustee, and Dr. Walter F. Westfall, dean of students. Sielter is section chief of Project Group "Information," Institute for Educational Planning and Guidance in his home country.

How To Diagnose Auto Danger Is Subject Of Free Pamphlet

Dangers surround us constantly. But they won't continue at such a degree. If we check our cars thoroughly -- trunk to hood, And keep them in good shape like we should.

That may sound like a non-sense verse to some people, but it makes good common sense -- especially if a car in good shape can make the difference between life and death. "Keep your car in good condition, and it will help keep you and your loved ones in good condition," says Gerald E. Montgomery, executive director of the Greater Detroit Safety Council, a chapter of the National Safety Council.

In 1969, some 56,400 people died in motor vehicle accidents. Michigan alone had 2,469 traffic deaths. How many of those deaths were due to an ailing auto is not known. But it's logical that a car kept in good running order will not only save its owner time and money every driving day, but will also be dependable in emergency situations.

IN ORDER to keep a car in good shape, a driver must not depend entirely on mechanics, who are oftentimes very busy and may miss things. The owner of a car should learn to diagnose the ailments of his car -- and the National Safety Council has a pamphlet available to help drivers do just that.

The 16-page pamphlet is entitled "How to Diagnose the Danger Signs of an Ailing Auto" and is small enough to be kept conveniently in a glove compartment. There are numerous pointers, given on determining the problems a car might have: poor brakes, weak lights, under-inflated tires, etc.

Good driving tips are also included. The pamphlet is easy to understand and quite useful, especially to anyone knowing very little about car maintenance.

If you would like a copy of this pamphlet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Greater Detroit Safety Council, 857 Virginia Park, Detroit 48202.
