PROPERTY VAIUES

What makes property valuable?
Desirability is the single word that answers this best. The more desirable it is the more people want it. And the more hey are willing

And what are the things that to pay for it.

And what are the things that make for desirability?

With a bome it is comfort, convenience, and beauty, Now whether you are very aesthetic in nature and love arboreal beauty or more prosaic and practical and want little more than comfort, the fact remains that most people like a fower with a well kept lawn, a few flower gardens, some shrubber, and above all shade trees; So you will just be making a nice little investment for future years, if you put out trees along the curb in front of your house. Think what it will mean when all the people along your street plant more trees, and your home is located in one of the most beautiful residential districts of the entire state. state. Won't it pay.

THE ESSENCE OF THE

The election is over, with results that were foreseen by anyone who observe the country instead of the candidates. The country began to say in the primaries of last spring that Calvin Coolidge was the national choice for the Presithe national choice for the Frest, dency. In spite of campaign ex-igencies and opposition, that sentiment received no check or set-back; it grew steadily into the tremendous majority of November

Perhaps there were never three Perhaps there were never three more incompetent managed presidential campaigns in the memory of living voters. Davis, of course, was finished in the convention that nominated him. La Follette started with a certain amount of strength, but dropped part of it at every public appearence until none was left, Coolidge attacted no one, misrepresented no one, space only American common sense, and swept the country.

Of course, to certain inflamed minds the election indicates that the American people are incorrigion.

minds the election indicates that the American people are incorrigibly reactionary and have once more placed their necks in the capitalistic halter. That is, generally, the view of La Follette supporters. To bthers it indicates that a mammoth "slush fund" bought and bribed the American records. bought and bribed the American people. How unintelligent these charges sound now, and how magnificently the American people have justified their own sound discernment between men and issues. It is a loss in public education that we do not have a post-election period in which the nation might study all campaign utterances and consider them calmly in the light of events. It would render the people wiser against the next election, and the candidates, more respectful of the popular intelligence Dearbory Independent.

With the schemal co-operation of the National Committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture, the great fundamentals of farm electrification are being thoroughly studied in ten different states in various sections of the country. Within the next few years—for it can hardly be done much sconer—both the agricultural and the electrical interests will know with scientific accuracy just what the American farmer can hope for in the way of perminent, extensive and profutable, electric service on his farm, supplied from the power lines of electric light and power companies.
