

Jane Wissman Is August Bride

MRS. JOHN CLAYTON BUXTON
(Jane Koch Wissman)

Old Mariners Church in downtown Detroit was the scene of the Aug. 10 wedding of Jane Koch Wissman and John Clayton Burton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Wissman, of Farmington, and Mrs. Clayton E. Buxton, of Danvers, Mass., are parents of the bridegroom.

Canon Charles Jatho heard the couple's vows, and the reception was held in the Detroit Press Club.

THE BRIDE'S Camelot gown was fashioned of candlelight silk organza over peau de sole, featuring lace-edged bands of crystal and pearl embroidery at the neckline and cuffs. The train was chapel length.

Matching embroidery trimmed the bride's Camelot cap that held a chapel-length veil of English silk illusion. She carried a Victorian bouquet of pink and white flowers ringed with ivy.

Elizabeth Wissman was maid of honor for her sister, and Ann Patton and Barbara Barzani were bridesmaids. Their gowns, also Camelot style, were flower pink raw silk, and pink and white blooms were used for their Victorian bouquets and headbands.

Laura Jane Burton, sister of the bridegroom, wore a pink dotted Swiss dress and carried a basket of pink and white flowers and ivy for her duties as flower girl.

KENNETH RETALLIC, of Pittsburg, assisted the bridegroom as best man. James Patton and Harvey Patton Jr. acted as the groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue raw silk suit, and Mrs. Buxton chose yellow lace. Both carried nosegays of white flowers.

The couple honeymooned in Canada and will live in Grand Forks, N.D., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force.

The new Mrs. Burton attended Adrian College and is a stewardess for Northwest Orient Airlines. Her husband attended Boston State College and the University of North Dakota.

MRS. WARREN LEEMGRAVEN
(Sue Austin)

Couple Speaks Vows In Double-Ring Rites

Sue Austin became the bride of Warren Leemgraven Aug. 24, in a double-ring ceremony in the Rainin Presbyterian Church of Holloway, Mich. The Rev. Gustav Hannevik officiated at the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail Austin of North Britain Highway, Tecumseh, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leemgraven, of Farmington, are the parents of the couple.

The bride wore a white linen princess-style dress trimmed with cotton lace. A stand-up collar of lace and an attached chapel train accented the dress, which was made by her mother. Attached to the dress was a family heirloom cameo, and she carried a nosegay of white daisies and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Becky Austin, of Oak Park, Ill., was maid of honor and Mrs. William Veaser, of Atlanta, was the bridesmaid.

The attendants wore empire dresses of yellow cotton shantung accented with orange and yellow embroidered ribbon. Dior bows were worn for headpieces and they carried nosegays of orange lilies.

Dennis Nicol, of Ann Arbor, was best man and Rod Leemgraven, brother of the bridegroom, and John Johnson, of California, served as ushers. The couple will live in Coopersville, Mich., where the bridegroom will teach physical education and coach, and the bride will teach the fifth grade.

Dinner Set By Pi Beta Phi
