The Bargain Bait

The Bargain Bait has lured many to spend money foolishly.

The Big Town store advertises "rare bargains." The Small Town housewife, eager to save, spends time and money to make a shopping trip by train, trolley or automobile.

She buys the "bargains"—and then buys other things at higher prices, and the Bargain Bait as served its purpose.

There is no bargain in such buying. You pay more—but you get no more. And mostly you get less.

If you ever buy bargains this way, check up the cost of the merchants of this community and see how much you would have saved by spending your money at home.
